[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
BOSTON, July 11.—(Exclusive Dispatch.)—In a recent interview, Capt. N. Mayo Dyer, who commanded the Baltimore at Manila Bay, deprecated the work of the Anti-Imperialists, and Erving Winslow, secretary of the Anti-Imperialistic League, wrote him an insulting letter. He charged that the army and navy were inculcating a martial spirit that threatened civil liberty. Here is Dyer's reply:

"Winslow ought to be denounced as a traitor to his country for writing such a letter. Anyone who will deliberately oppose and try to prevent the work of the army and navy of his country is as low in my estimation as though he were to deliberately take up arms against his country, and should be taken in hand at once.

"The American soldiers are enduring enough perils and hardships in the Philippines without being derided and denounced by a few Boston cranks, who have taken it into their heads that the administration is carrying on the campaign for the fun of the thing. Senator Mason says that the war is being carried on without the sanction of Congress. What does this gentleman think our nation would do if we were attacked by an European power? Does he think the President would wait till Congress had assembled? I am tired with this rot about 'imperialism.'"

ARMING THE TRANSPORTS.
War Department Will Take No Chances Against Filipinos. [BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WASHINGTON, July 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Navy Department has consented to turn over to the ordnance bureau of the army sixteen 6-pounder rifles for use on the army transports engaged in carrying troops to and from the Philippines. There has been a great deal of comment in military circles over the fact that troopships were entirely without armament, and recently the War Department asked the Navy Department for sixteen rifles, which have now been promised.

It was said today by army officers that if the Filipinos had been enterprising enough to mount on the ships some of the guns they took from Spanish gunboats at Zamboanga, they might have captured or destroyed some of the army transports. One officer hinted that word had been received that the Filipinos were arming some vessels, and that this was the real reason why the army transports were to have modern rifles.

Thirty guns are at Brooklyn Navy Yard, and will be shipped immediately to Washington ordnance factory for some slight alterations before being installed on board the transports at San Francisco.

MEDAL FOR DEWEY.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, July 11.—The Navy Department today dispatched to Admiral Dewey the medal awarded to him by act of Congress to commemorate the battle of Manila. The Admiral's medal is identical with those sent to each man in the battle with the exception that his own name is engraved upon the edge.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, July 11.—The orders issued last summer which allowed 60 cents a day per man for soldiers undergoing hospital treatment, have been revoked, and an order issued allowing 40 cents a day per man from the appropriation for subsistence of the army.

GOV. GREER GRATEFUL.
He Desires Oregonian Volunteers to Accept California Hospitality. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Gov. J. J. Geer of Oregon and his executive staff, consisting of Col. E. B. Tuttle, adjutant-general; Col. D. M. Gillis, Col. S. C. Spencer, Maj. M. C. Wood, and Capt. E. C. Meers arrived from Portland, Ore., today. The gentlemen have come from Oregon to welcome the Oregon volunteers, who are due to arrive here on the United States transport Newport.

In an interview, Gov. Geer expressed himself as highly gratified at the invitation extended the Oregon boys to accept the hospitality of the people of San Francisco before their departure for Oregon. The Governor said that he is doing all in his power to have the War Department change its decision denying the boys the privilege of landing in this city. Gov. Geer expects to have the department grant the boys the opportunity of stretching their legs in this city before being sent North. If this request is refused, the volunteers will remain on board their transport during their stay in the harbor, and will be allowed to participate in any of the entertainments arranged for their gratification.

TRANSPORT CONEMAUGH SAILS.

Gen. Wheeler Will Sail from San Francisco Next Week. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, July 11.—Gen. Joseph Wheeler left Washington this afternoon, en route to the Philippine Islands. He will go via Chicago, Omaha, Denver and Salt Lake, but as he is scheduled to reach San Francisco Sunday, he will stop long at any place on the way. He will sail for Manila July 20.

"I have no plans of campaign," he said today. "I shall not know what I am to do until I receive my instructions from Gen. Otis. I should like to have it understood that I go to the Philippines in an entirely subordinate character. Not only Gen. Otis, but Gens. Lawton and MacArthur will outrank me, and it is proper that they should, for while they were my juniors they have been in the field while I have not, and they deserve to have places superior to any assignment that may be given me."

DEATH REPORT.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, July 11.—The War Department has received the following report from Gen. Otis, Manila, under date of July 9:

Anxiety of the Railroad to Save Hotel Expenses.

The Injured Invited to Travel Though not Ready.

Mother of Miss Elizabeth White Dead—Sorrowful Leave-taking. Officials Fix the Blame for the Shocking Disaster.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The survivors of the Newman railroad disaster, who were brought to this city Monday evening, had a trying time today. Those who had their dead to take home for burial left on the evening overland, and those who could get about were hustled out of town with unfeeling expedition. There seemed to be no consideration of the fact by the railroad people that they were all suffering from their shock, and that they had been without sleep. Its emissary was at the Grand Hotel, where they had been lodged, before the injured were stirring and they were literally prodded out of town to save hotel bills.

The railroad having gotten receipts from most of them releasing the company from further damages, the anxiety was to get them to their destination, when they would be responsible for their own board and lodging. Those who were shoeless and hatless were piloted to where they could be supplied with these necessities, but everything was done on a schedule time. A few moments were allowed for a word of parting between those who would start on the sorrowful journey home and those who were ticketed to the south. The passengers met in the room where Miss May Oliver was lying helpless from her sprained ankle and general bruising, and it was a sad leave taking between those who were in such a sorry state less than twenty-four hours before.

Miss Elizabeth White, whose mother now lies dead, spent most of the day in gentle ministrations to her friend, Miss Oliver, and bore with remarkable fortitude the dreadful sorrow, which had come into her life. In turn, both the injured and sorrowing were in charge of Mrs. M. A. Adams and Miss Adams, who, although suffering from minor bruises, were nurses and comforters-in-chief.

Edwin B. Luckey, also remained in San Francisco, as the conductor of the party, he said that he would not think of leaving until all those who had been in his charge were provided for. Mr. Luckey, who has had little to say of his own troubles, was not as well today as the night before. In the excitement, he did not realize his own injuries.

Several times today the railroad agent went to Miss Oliver and asked her if she was not ready to travel. She was not, but to save unpleasant importuning will agree to go as soon as she can travel with safety. She has been asked to name what she considers her claims against the company, but has decided to think it over and find how long it will be before she will be able to get about. The energetic adjuster attempted to talk to Miss White, whose mother was killed, but she asked to be excused. The company will hear from her and the relatives of Miss Harris later.

The remains of Mrs. Thomas and Miss Harris were taken to Oakland by the first train, and the transfer was made to the overland when those going East reached the pier. It is said that Mrs. Thomas was frightfully mutilated, but not Miss Harris. Miss White will take her mother's remains through to Seneca, N. Y., which was her mother's home. She expects to be joined by her only sister when the train reaches St. Louis. Miss Rosenberg and Miss Wehmiller, who decided to return home, will take charge of Miss Harris's remains.

SUPPRESSING THE NEWS.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Only three or four of the victims of yesterday's railroad accident at Newman remain in this city, the rest having gone to Los Angeles today to attend the National Educational Association Convention. Of the injured ones who are here little can be learned, as every effort is being made to keep news from the public, even their names being withheld.

It is understood around the Grand Hotel, where the victims are staying, that they are progressing under the care of the physicians.

Secretary is Wearing Out, Says One of His Friends.

Report Revived That He Will Resign His Office.

Combination With Pingree the Straw That Broke the Camel's Back. The Demand Seems to Be for a Change in the Situation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A special to the Sun from Washington says: "Secretary Alger's days as a member of President McKinley's cabinet appear to be numbered. There is a report in circulation tonight that his resignation and the appointment of his successor will be announced in a few days, and while it is impossible to get direct confirmation of this report, there is high authority for the statement that the present condition of affairs cannot last many days longer.

"The combination, or alleged combination, between Pingree and Alger is the straw that has broken the camel's back. It is understood that Alger has been urged to counteract the feeling against him by a public announcement to the effect that he favors the re-election of McMillan to the senate. It is not known that the Secretary has decided to make such an announcement as this, and indeed it would probably be too late for him to do so now.

"Personally the President is still Alger's friend, and it is quite likely that he will hesitate before asking him outright to retire from the cabinet. Moreover, it is the opinion of those who are informed on the present situation that Alger will relieve the President of all embarrassment by voluntarily handing in his resignation."

Another Version.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WASHINGTON, July 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Alger plot seems to be thickening, and that's about all there is to the latest batch of Alger resignation news. This morning's eastern administration newspapers renewed their attack upon Alger, and during the day stories were plentiful about how that Alger had actually resigned. Some reports said his resignation was to take effect immediately; others that it was to take effect late next fall, about the time that Congress meets, for instance.

Alger's friends said he hadn't resigned, but Alger lost his defiant attitude today. He told one friend that the President could have his resignation any moment, "by asking for it," and some of his other friends said that even if he intended to resign, they thought it would be unfair to him to force him out of the Cabinet before he had a chance to write his annual report about the War Department. It would be downright mean, they said, to let another man write the department's annual report, and they thought Alger would remain in the Cabinet until that was finished, anyway. The department reports are made up along in November.

The correspondent talked with one of Alger's close friends today. This friend has just been riding with the Secretary. He said: "There is no use of further disguising the fact that Secretary Alger feels deeply the attacks which are being made upon him. They are wearing him out. He is under unequal pressure, but I think he will hold on a while longer."

Alger himself declined to be interviewed today. He attended the Cabinet meeting, but did not stay long. Attorney-General Griggs said nothing about the resignation being mentioned at the Cabinet meeting, and added: "Once again, I will say that if Secretary Alger resigns, Gov. Roosevelt's visit here last Saturday had nothing to do with it. I happen to know about that visit myself."

The understanding is the New York Sun is preparing to make a red-hot campaign against Alger, and see if it cannot drive him out of Washington. The Sun started in today, and expects to keep its vitriol squirtgun going right along till Alger quits.

AUTHORITATIVELY STATED.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, July 11.—It was authoritatively stated that reports that Secretary Alger has tendered his resignation are without foundation. The Secretary has taken no such action, nor has his resignation been asked for.

H. J. COLEMAN'S MODE OF SCRATCHING FOR A LIVING.

Double-decked Crates of Tomatoes and Apples Bound for Alaska to Be Retail at Fancy Figures.
New Beach Digging.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
SEATTLE, July 11.—H. J. Coleman of Eagle River, Wis., who sails from here tomorrow for Alaska, has a novel scheme to make a fortune in the Klondike. He will take with him a double-decked crate of cats, on which he expects to realize at least $3000. He says the rats are very troublesome in Dawson, and his cats will bring from $20 to $50 each.

PROFITABLE WASHING.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
VICTORIA, July 11.—The steamer Willapa brought news this morning of the discovery of rich beach diggings at Wreck Bay, five miles from Uclulet, on the west coast of Vancouver Island. With the rudest appliances, $9 a day is being washed out. One prospector took a pan to the beach and washed out $2.50. Great excitement prevails, and farmers are abandoning their farms to engage in gold washing.

DAWSON OUTPUT LARGE.
Miners are stampeding to Cape Nome and Golovin Bay.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]
SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Mail received in this city yesterday from Dawson brings advices up to June 20, being the latest news received from that point. A letter from Dawson says: "The conditions here are quite satisfactory and the output will be larger than was at first predicted, though it will be impossible to obtain a correct estimate because of the number who leave the place, packing down in grips, carpet bags, sacks, boxes, tin cans and in many other ways, and no one knows what becomes of them."

"There is quite a stampede from here and other points toward Cape Nome and Golovin Bay. The first steamer for the lower river left Dawson June 12 and steamer for the upper river is carrying full loads of passengers."

ALASKAN MINERS ARE EXPECTED

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]
SEATTLE, July 11.—Several vessels are now due from St. Michaels, Alaska. Among them are the Roanoke and Alliance of this city and the Garonne of Vancouver. B.C. Union Interests attaches to their arrival, for the reason that late advice from the Yukon River, by way of the Upper Yukon River, indicates that they will bring a large amount of gold dust. The total amount is estimated all the way from two to five millions. In addition to the gold, it is expected that they will bring definite and detailed information from the newly-discovered Cape Nome and Golovin Bay district.

CANADA'S MILITARY POLICY.

[OTTAWA A. P.] July 11.—In the House of Commons today the attention of the Premier was called to a newspaper story, published in New York, to the effect that Canada was about to send more troops to the Yukon district. The Premier stated that the policy was established two years ago on the Dalton trail, four or five miles from Porcupine Creek. No further changes were contemplated by the government, as this was sufficient to maintain law and order.

He would be sorry if the United States government decided to send troops to the disputed territory so long as the question of a permanent boundary was not settled.

NEW MILITARY POST.

President Orders It Called Fort Wright, for Late General.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, July 11.—By direction of the President, a new military post near Spokane, Wash., has been named Fort Wright, in honor of Gen. George J. Wright, who was colonel of the Ninth Infantry and brigadier-general of volunteers.

Col. Wright defeated the allied bands of Indians near Spokane Plains in 1858. He was drowned in 1855 in the wreck of the steamer Brother Jonathan, while on his way to assume command of the Department of the Columbia.

English Navy Mobilizing.

LONDON, July 11.—Mobilizing for the naval maneuvers began today, 118 warships and 25,000 men taking part in the operations. One of the principal objects of the maneuvers is to study the value of the torpedo-boat destroyers, of which fifty-four are engaged.

Also That the Western Federation of Labor Advised Such a General Programme as the One Carried Out.

Chicago Precedent Called to the Court's Attention—Mine Managers Give Testimony—Report of a Shooting Affray.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
CHICAGO, July 11.—A special to the Record from Wallace Idaho, says that in the Paul Corcoran murder trial, the spies case in Chicago was referred to for a precedent. The State, it is said, proposed to prove conspiracy to commit crimes of the character of that perpetrated at Wardner April 29, and the law laid down in the Chicago anarchist case will be very largely relied upon.

Acting County Attorney Forney, in his opening statement, told the jury that the State would prove that the Western Federation of Labor advised such a general programme as that carried out April 29. The defense objected. Mr. Forney said his proof was in documents found in the Miners' Union safe, and captured at Burke. In the spies case, he said, Herr Most was found admitted because it was found among the captured archives. The point raised was temporarily waived.

MINE MANAGERS TESTIFY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
WALLACE (Idaho), July 11.—The testimony of Frederick Burbridge, manager of the Bunker Hill Company, was practically the same as that given in the removal cases of the Sheriff and commissioners last week. The policy of the company since the strike by the union in 1894 had been to employ no union men, discharging as known to belong to the union. He did not discriminate against members of other labor organizations.

Albert Burck, secretary of the Bunker Hill mine, next testified, but he merely minutely detailed the occurrences of April 23 and April 26, when the strike was declared. Last night at the Standard mine, four men came down toward the compressor building. When the soldier guard challenged them, one of the men fired the guard returned the shot, and started in pursuit. He was joined by another and two deputies. A number of shots were fired at the miner, who replied. All four men escaped.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
SPRINGFIELD (Ill.), July 11.—Acting-Gov. Warder received a telegram today that a shooting affray had occurred early this morning between non-union miners and a company of U.S. Cavalry at the Standard mine. Orders to Co. P, Fourth Illinois Infantry, of Mount Vernon, to return home will probably be rescinded, and both the Mount Vernon and Carondelet companies will remain at Carterville.

NEW COMMISSIONERS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
WALLACE (Idaho), July 11.—Gov. Steunenberg has issued commissions to Fyris C. Gordon, James E. Gye and G. Scott Anderson, as County Commissioners. They qualified and are in session today.

John Clark was the first witness in the Corcoran case today. He was recording secretary of the Burke union at the time of the riot, and went to Kellogg with the rioters. On the return trip he recognized Corcoran. At Kellogg he saw a number of masked men, some on horseback, and he said he was not absolutely certain about Corcoran.

LONGSHOREMEN'S CONVENTION.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
BUFFALO (N. Y.), July 11.—The International Longshoremen's convention opened here today. After appointing a Committee of Credentials, the convention adjourned until noon tomorrow.

LONGSHORE STRIKE OFF.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
NEW YORK, July 11.—The 300 longshoremen who went out on a strike yesterday on the Morgan steamship dock, returned today, the company having complied with their demands. They were being paid 25 cents an hour for loading in the day, and 30 cents an hour for night. They demanded 30 cents for day and 45 for night.

TIN-PLATE DISCUSSION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
CHICAGO, July 11.—Officials of the American Tin-Plate Company and representatives of the wage committee of the Amalgamated Association held another protracted session today, discussing the differences between the operators and employees in regard to the wages and hours of labor. The final result of the conference is according to some of those taking part in the discussion, rather uncertain.

OBJECT TO CANTINE.

National Temperance Society Delegation Protests to the President.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, July 11.—A delegation, representing the National Temperance Society and other kindred organizations, called upon the President this afternoon to ask his consideration of points in reference to the interpretation given by the Attorney-General to the recent act of Congress affecting the army canteen. The delegation recorded its dissent from the opinion of the Attorney-General, and presented a legal opinion on the subject.

The members of the delegation, after their call, reported the President as saying the opinion of the Attorney-General was given without any previous knowledge on his part, and that he would look into the matter personally, and if the opinion of the Attorney-General was found to be correct, it should stand, but he added, that all men were doubtless, and that if the Attorney-General had made a mistake, he had no doubt he would be ready to rectify it.

His Inflexible Will.

BIELEFELD (Prussia), July 11.—On the unveiling here today of a tablet commemorating Emperor William's speech in 1897, in the course of which he promised protection to national labor, the Kaiser telegraphed his intention of presenting to the city the cost of the statue of the great elector intended for Berlin, as a memorial of his reception and a reminder that they are his great ancestor, has an inflexible will, and in spite of opposition, "pursues without deviating a course of recognized right."

NEW YORK, July 11.—Fire in a crowded five-story tenement, in Monroe street, early today, resulted in fatal injuries to five persons and the overcoming by smoke of eight others. The fatally injured are: MRS. REBECCA BECK, MISS ROSE BECK, her daughter, 12 years old, inhaled smoke. MRS. TILLIE SILVER, burned. ROSIE SILVER, her daughter, 6 years old, burned. SAM LONDON, who boarded with the Silver family, burned. Those severely injured who will probably recover are: HARRY BAREK, expressman, burned. His four children, overcome by smoke. HARRIS SILVER, tailor, burned. TILLIE SILVER, aged 4 years, overcome by the fire started in the apartments of Max Press, coal operator, on the fourth floor. All of the household escaped, while the fire burned and went to bed, leaving the lamp burning, and that he and a boarder, Jacob Koplan, were smoking cigarettes. The firemen believe that the men must have gone to sleep with the lighted cigarettes in their mouths, and the bedding caught fire. Press was singed by the flames. The family of five, who were sixteen families in the house.

[CUBA.]
FOR THEM TO CHOOSE.

ISLANDERS MAY HAVE INDEPENDENCE OR ANNEXTION.

President McKinley Working on a Plan to Submit to the People the Question of a Territorial Government Under the Republic.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]
NEW YORK, July 11.—According to a correspondent of the World at Washington, President McKinley is working energetically upon a plan to submit the question of independence or annexation to the people of Cuba. He believes that they would vote for annexation. Reports from Gov.-Gen. Brooke indicate a contrary view, but the President has received confidential letters from influential sources in and about Havana, which have convinced him that Gen. Brooke is mistaken and that the people of the island would gladly vote for a territorial government under the greater republic.

These confidential reports reveal a good deal more of discord among the American provincial rulers, than is usually believed to exist. The policy applied to the government of the provinces in the western end of the island, the Pinarens, and Matanzas—which are directly under the supervision of Gen. Brooke, is, for instance, radically different from that inaugurated by Gen. Wood, military commander of Santiago. The government of Santiago is looked upon by the President as more desirable than that in the western province. Gen. Wood's policy, made a personal report to the President, who endorsed his policy and urged its continuance.

Gen. Wood said he had encouraged American enterprise in Santiago by giving the Americans preference. "I do not believe there has reached you the complaint of the American interests in Havana and other western provinces," he said. "The American interests have reached the President from many sources, and it is not impossible that a change in the administration of the Cuban government will soon be made. It is stated upon very high authority that the President desires Gen. Brooke's attendance in Washington in the capacity of confidential adviser and is contemplating this."

So strong is the President's tendency toward annexation that it is believed that an effort will be made in Congress to rescind the resolution providing for Cuban independence, and to substitute a plan by which the matter may be submitted to a vote of the people of the island.

YELLOW FEVER REPORT.

Twenty-four Deaths Occur at Santiago de Cuba.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, July 11.—Surgeon-General Sternberg has received two cables from Maj. O'Reilly, chief surgeon at Havana, regarding the yellow fever situation. In the first he says: "Havana yesterday telegraphs revised list today showing 125 cases, with twenty-four deaths, including four officers, Fabricius, Clendennin, McLaughlin and Heatwole; also twenty civilian cases and five deaths. No cases in Cuba in last three days. Headquarters ordered to interior."

The other dispatch reports two additional cases of yellow fever at Manzanillo, five in all.

CROSBY'S OLD CLOTHES.

Former Wealthy Chicagoan Says That is All He Has.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
NEW YORK, July 11.—Albert Crosby of Brewster, Mass., and formerly rich and prominent in Chicago, where he owned the Crosby Opera-house and the Mayov Brewing Company, was examined in bankruptcy proceedings here today. In his petition he described his assets consisting of a few old clothes. He lives in a handsome home on Capt. Cod.

Mrs. Crosby testified today that she owns the estate at Brewster; has $100,000 in bank and mortgages for $100,000 more; real estate valued at $50,000 and furniture and paintings valued at $12,000, besides her claim for $50,000 against Crosby for advances made by her to him from time to time. Crosby owed her $100,000 when he gave his all to his business, then he has lived by borrowing from her, she asserts. They usually spend the winter abroad and the summers at Brewster.

The city of Chicago holds a judgment of $500,000 against Crosby, who was a surety on the bonds of David A. Gage, who was City Treasurer of Chicago and defaulted in a very large sum. Crosby is also heavily involved in Indiana.

Taylor Leads the Candidates.

LEXINGTON (Ky.), July 11.—The candidates are all here for the Republican State Convention tomorrow. For the Governorship, Atty.-Gen. W. S. Taylor has more votes pledged than are necessary to nominate. Col. Stone and Judge Pratt confess that they are in the minority, but are still working with a view to defeating Taylor, rather than with any expectation for themselves.

CHICAGO, July 11.—When the cases of Dan Coughlin and his bartender, William Armstrong, recently indicted for jury bribing, were called today neither man appeared. Their bonds amounting to $30,000 were declared forfeited.

PRESIDENT'S CRITICS

NATIONAL CIVIL SERVICE REFORM LEAGUE A KICKER.

Secretary Gage Says its Statements are Malicious Representations, Absolute Falsehoods or False Interpretations.

Official of the Society Sends a Long Open Letter to Mr. Gage, Criticizing Treasury Department Appointments.

Administration, He Says, Has Failed to Keep its Promise, and the Merit System Has Been Neglected.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
NEW YORK, July 11.—The National Civil Service Reform League today issued a criticism of President McKinley's civil-service order, declaring that "a backward step of the most pronounced character" had been taken.

Secretary J. Gage, Secretary of the Treasury, gave an authorized interview in which he declared that some of the statements of the league were "malicious misrepresentations," "absolute falsehoods," or "false interpretations, having basis only in the wish to find something in the line of the President to condemn." George M. Anney, secretary of the league, has sent a long open letter to Secretary Gage, in which the following appeared: "Since the opening of the war with Spain the numerous appointments in the Washington offices of the Treasury Department, through competition under the civil-service rules, have been insignificant. The number of appointments through other means—chiefly under the war acts—has been very large. When the Urgency Deficiency Bill was passed by Congress in June, 1898, a clause was inserted permitting the employment of certain clerks in the War and Treasury departments for a period of not to exceed one year, 'with-out compliance with the conditions of the civil-service act.'"

"The total of 10,000 positions created by McKinley's order subject to competitive examination, and now withdrawn, are as follows: Treasury Department, 1844; Interior Department, 1022; Medical Department at large, 28; Ordnance Department at large, 4277; Engineer Department at large, 1389; total, 6416."

KRUEGER'S PROPOSALS.
Joey thinks They Won't Give the Outlanders Representation.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
LONDON, July 11.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Financial Secretary for the Foreign Office, Mr. Myndham, replying to a question in the House of Commons, today, said the communication published by the London Times, July 7, giving the names of British officers detailed to proceed to South Africa to organize the franchise in the Transvaal, was the knowledge of the Marquis of Landsdowne, Secretary of State for War.

The Secretary of State for the Colonies, Joseph Chamberlain, in the course of a reply to Mr. Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Liberal member, on the subject of Krueger's latest proposals, said that, in the absence of full information, it was impossible to be certain as to the practical effect of the franchise scheme, but so far as he was able to judge, it would have no immediate effect on the representation of the Outlanders in the Transvaal, as the franchise would be carried out in accordance with the provisions of the new seats allotted to them in the Rand until a very much later date.

ARTILLERY ORDERED OUT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
LONDON, July 11.—The Seventy-third Battery of Artillery has been ordered to South Africa, also the Fifth Battery of Field Artillery, now under orders for the Cape. All the gun carriages of these batteries are being taken to the local coast. Thirty machine guns were shipped to the Transvaal today.

NEGOTIATIONS WITH FRANCE.

Limit of Concessions Believed to Have Been Reached.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, July 11.—It appears to be the accepted view in well-informed government quarters that the limit of concessions has been reached in the negotiations with the French authorities for a reciprocity treaty, and today's conference did not bring about material advance in the negotiations.

France conceded the minimum rate on the entire tariff schedule, at the outset, the difference being the usual maximum rate, and the minimum rate being about 20 per cent. Mr. Kasson in return submitted a list of articles on which our rates would be reduced under the provisions of section four of the Dingley act, allowing not over 20 per cent. reduction on articles agreed upon.

The American negotiators, however, have not proved as satisfactory in Paris as was expected, and considerations have been given of late to extending the list somewhat. No further concessions have been made on our side, but these have not been sufficient to close the negotiations.

Coughlin's Bonds Forfeited.

CHICAGO, July 11.—When the cases of Dan Coughlin and his bartender, William Armstrong, recently indicted for jury bribing, were called today neither man appeared. Their bonds amounting to $30,000 were declared forfeited.

DESTROYED MEAT.

Irish Pork and American Beef Both Condemned.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
LONDON, July 11.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Secretary of the Admiralty, W. T. Ellison Macartney, replying in the House of Commons, today, to a question of James Christopher Flynn, Irish Nationalist, member for the north division of Cork county, asked regarding the recent destruction at Deptford of 600,000 pounds of salt meat, which was unfit for food, and whether, in view of this enormous loss, the admiralty would consider the advisability of contracting for salt meat with Irish and other home-curers, and the whole of the pork destroyed at Deptford was Irish pork and that the beef condemned was American beef.

He added that all the salt beef consumed in the British navy was obtained until recently, from America, which was the only available commercial source of supply. But, he continued, 600,000 pounds of beef are now cured annually at Deptford.

THE CZAR'S MANIFESTO.

RIGHT OF SUCCESSION TO THE THRONE DETERMINED.

Death of Grand Duke George Has Made Grand Duke Michael the Heir Apparent So Long as the Russian Monarch is not Blessed With a Son.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
ST. PETERSBURG, July 11.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Official Messenger published today an imperial manifesto, worded as follows:

"Our beloved brother and heir to the throne, the Grand Duke George Alexandrovich, died at Abbas Tuman, June 28 (old style). The illness which attacked him might, it was hoped, yield to the treatment initiated, and the influence of the southern climate. But God willed otherwise. In submitting without a murmur to the decree of Providence, we call our faithful subjects to share our deep sorrow with us, and to offer fervent prayers for the repose of the soul of

AGAINST CONCESSION

CONGRESSMEN RETURNED FROM ALASKA—BOUNDARY TALK.

Original Treaty, Acquired With the Land from Russia Must Be the Ground on Which Dispute Is Settled.

Giving Up a Foot of Space Would Result in a Great Commercial Loss to the Country and Coast.

California Weather and Crops—Big Fire at Chico—Victims of the Newman Train-Wreck—Delinquent Tax Lists.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SEATTLE, July 11.—Congressmen Payne, Steel, Hull, Dalzell and Heatwole, who arrived here today from Alaska, are very much impressed with their trip. Congressman Payne, who is a member of the High Joint Commission, refused to discuss the boundary question or the proposed modus vivendi. He anticipates no trouble over a settlement of the dispute. Congressman Steel said:

"We are too big to ever go to war over the Alaskan boundary. The subject will in time shape itself and become settled. At this time the interest centers in the shifting of the boundary, as proposed in the modus vivendi, which would throw the Porcupine mining district, temporarily at least, under British laws. It is not easy to see just how this incidental question will be settled to the entire satisfaction of all, but I do believe it will be adjusted so as not to disrupt the amicable settlement of the entire boundary controversy, which is now in the hands of the Joint High Commission. I am interested in that, as a Congressman and as all American citizens should be. I realize we have a great country in Alaska, and I feel pretty sure the present Congress is going to fritter any of it away. Congressman Hull is against giving up a foot of the northern territory, and does not hesitate to say that it would certainly result in great commercial loss, were a port given to the British on Lynn Canal. It would affect in a way the whole country and coast."

"We have nothing to concede to Great Britain, in the way of territory," said Congressman Hull. "It is not that we have acquired something that does not belong to us, that was owned by the crown. We have nothing to do with that boundary. We stand simply upon the rights of possession, acquired by the Russian purchase. There has been no new demarcation of boundary. England never questioned the boundary from 1855 to 1867, when Seward purchased the country from Russia for the United States. We will not go behind the original treaty by which we acquired all the rights in Alaska, and therefore we will accept nothing less than the territory accorded us under that treaty."

After spending a few days on Puget Sound, the Congressional party will return East.

AN UNBELIEVER'S WILL.

William Steel Wants His Money Kept from the Gospel Tribe.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SAN RAFAEL, July 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The will of William Steel, late assistant manager of the London and San Francisco Bank, which was filed for probate in the Superior Court this morning, is a remarkable document. After disposing of his estate in a few words, the testator gives a frank expression of his contempt for all forms of religion and of his dislike for the orthodox exponents of Christian doctrine. Steel was known as an unbeliever, and in life would never let the opportunity pass to score the ministers of the gospel. Fearing that it might be said that he had relented before his death, he incorporated the following in his will:

"And I make special request that my body be cremated, and that not one copper coin of the income of my estate be expended upon or in any chapel or church or upon the support or encouragement, directly or indirectly, of any so-called minister of the gospel or any missionary of any sect, for the whole of which tribe I entertain a sincere and well-founded and unquenchable aversion, founded upon a life's experience of the ridiculous untruth of their creeds and of the hypocritical dishonesty that, for the most part, characterizes their dealings with brainless men and silly women."

The will is dated at Mill Valley, October 5, 1897. The estate is valued at $100,000. The entire property is bequeathed to his wife, Isabel Steel, and at her death to his only daughter, Isabel. If the mother should die before the daughter becomes of age, the estate is bequeathed in trust to the California Title Insurance and Trust Company. The money is to be invested in a life annuity for the benefit of the daughter to protect her from "money-hunters and adventurers." Mrs. Steel is named as executrix, without bonds.

THAT COAST ROAD.

Gap Will Not Be Closed Until the Next Century.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—The Examiner this morning will say that George Crocker, second vice-president of the Southern Pacific, announces that the coast road to Santa Barbara will not be completed until six months later than was expected.

This means that the long-existing gap between Surf and Santa Barbara will not be closed before about November, 1900. Scarcity of laboring men is the cause given for the delay.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

What the Climate is Doing for California Products.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—The Department of Agriculture has issued the following summary showing the weather and crop conditions existing in California for the week just ended:

Normal temperatures prevailed throughout the State during the week, and no precipitation was reported. Grain harvesting continues, and threshing has commenced in some sections. The yield of wheat in the northern and central portions of the State is the quality generally good. Barley is proving better in some localities than had been anticipated, but the yield and quality are not quite up to the average. Deciduous fruits are ripening rapidly, and are being shipped dried. Peaches are in the market, and the yield is enormous; other fruits, with the exception of apricots and prunes, are yielding fairly well. The red spider has appeared in some orchards, and thrips have attacked vineyards, but no material damage has been reported. Watermelons are in the market. At present the outlook is good for corn, sugar beets, beans, potatoes and all vegetables. The second crop of hay is being harvested. Pastures continue good in most sections. In portions of the extreme south, artesian wells have ceased flowing, and the water supply is low.

DELINQUENT TAX LISTS.

Important Decision Affecting Publications in Newspapers.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN JOSE, July 11.—An important decision has been given by Superior Judge Lorrigan. It concerns the publication of the delinquent tax list, and is of interest to the general taxpayers, and also to newspaper publishers. The County Tax Collector printed his official list of delinquent taxpayers in one paper in the county. The Board of Supervisors also ordered the list printed in another paper. In addition to this, the board ordered the publication of township list of delinquencies in the papers of those townships.

The District Attorney took proceedings and stopped payment on all the publications, and the board ordered it was ordered by the Tax Collector, holding that under the law the supervisors had no power to order the publication, and that the board acted exclusively on the Tax Collector.

A suit was brought to test the matter, and Judge Lorrigan holds that the supervisors have in their discretion the power to print the list wherever they choose.

The case will be appealed to the Supreme Court. It is not known whether the majority of the supervisors are of different political complexion from the Tax Collector, but it is claimed that politics do not arise in the case.

CHICO'S DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

Starts in Sperry's Flour Mills—Bldg well Mansion Impaired.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] CHICO, July 11.—The most destructive fire ever seen in Chico occurred here this afternoon at 4 o'clock, when fire was discovered in the engine-room of the Sperry Flour Company's mills. Despite the desperate efforts of the mill hands and farm employees, the flames spread rapidly to all parts of the buildings. The large warehouse adjoining were soon in flames, the heat being so intense that the firemen were driven back.

The tall water-tower and stables of Gen. Bidwell caught from cinders, and it appeared as though the Bidwell mansion would also be destroyed, but will ing helpers saved this magnificent dwelling. A strong south wind prevailed at the time, which carried the burning brands several miles in the country. Flames in several grain fields were started by the cinders, but hundreds of men quenched them before much damage was done.

In the mills and warehouses a large amount of grain was stored, it all being totally destroyed. The loss to the Sperry Company is estimated at $90,000, which is partially covered by insurance. Gen. Bidwell's loss is about $600, and $3000 insurance.

GUATEMALAN CRISIS.

President Cabrera Causes Much Dissatisfaction—Uprising Threatened.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Mail advices from Guatemala confirm the reports of an approaching crisis in the Central American republic. That the dissatisfaction will lead to a revolution against the administration of President Cabrera seems hardly likely, in view of the fact that there is no money in the country to organize anything approaching a formidable insurrection. Uprisings in the cities are, however, expected, and while they may not result in Cabrera's downfall, they will cause great loss to invested capital.

It is by no means unlikely that foreign governments, especially the United States and Germany, and possibly England, may be called upon to interfere, if they have not been requested to do so already. Cabrera appears to be maintaining himself in office purely and simply by force. Numerous tales are being circulated of political prisoners being shot to death by their guards, acting under his orders. Five thousand refugees in Salvador and as many more in Mexico and Honduras are ready to take up arms against Cabrera.

CANNERS ACCEPT OFFERS.

Proposed Increase of Carload Lots Agitates Combine Members.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—The directors of the California Canneries Association decided today to accept all the options obtained on the plants, which have agreed to enter the trust, and which have been approved by the board. The options will be taken up Saturday, part in cash and the rest in stock of the combine. The directors will meet for organization Monday night, and then the organization will have been completed.

The members of the combine, as well as those on the outside, are agitated over the proposition of the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific to loan 24,000 to 40,000 pounds. A number of heavy shippers of canned fruits held a conference today with V. A. Bissel, assistant traffic manager of the Santa Fe, on this proposition, but nothing came of it. The canning men will continue to protest against increasing the minimum carload lot, and are not without hope of winning the fight.

BERKELEY'S NEW HEAD.

President Wheeler Attends the Board of Regents Meeting.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, the newly elected head of the University of California, arrived from the East this morning and was present at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Regents held at the Hopkins Institute of Art at 1 o'clock this afternoon. He was introduced to the members of the board by Regent Rodgers.

W. H. Barnes was called to the chair, and a few minor business matters were briefly disposed of. To afford President Wheeler the opportunity to become acquainted with the regents and also to inspect the workings of the university, on motion of Regent Rodgers, the board adjourned to meet again Tuesday next, the 15th inst.

RECOUNT IN NEVADA.

McMillan and Sadler Respectively Opposed to Several Hundred Ballots.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] CARSON (Nev.), July 11.—Testimony in the Governorship contest closed this morning. Of the ballots to which no objection was interposed by either side, Sadler has a majority of sixty. McMillan objected to 200 ballots, and Sadler to 370. The court will decide upon all objected ballots.

The court appointed Thursday, July

13, for the reexamination of ballots before attorneys of both sides. This will occupy two days. During the recount the court will make an examination of the rejected ballots, probably deciding on the validity of some. The court adjourned till Thursday.

MISSING FROM HOME.

Miss Rose Waltham the Object of Covelo People's Search.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] COVELO, July 11.—The Covelo and Round Valley section is intensely excited over the mysterious disappearance of Miss Rose Waltham, a beautiful and accomplished stepdaughter of Sylvester Palmer, a wealthy stock-raiser of this section.

The girl, who is 18 years old, disappeared from her home last night 5 o'clock. Over 150 people, mounted on horses, are scouring the mountains and unfrequented trails, and at 2 p.m. the visible trace of the missing girl had been found.

Egg-catchers are Obstinate.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Frank Martin and Joe Costa, two "egg-catchers," who were left on the North Farallone Islands, six weeks ago, and who were believed to be perishing from thirst, were relieved today by the tug Vigilant, which carried a supply of water and food for them. The men on the tug, as they expected a sloop to call for them in a few days, and they did not want to lose their profit from thousands of eggs they had collected.

Depositors Versus Directors.

SAN JOSE, July 11.—Suits were brought today by H. A. Markes for himself and on behalf of all the depositors of the Union Savings Bank to enjoin the directors and secretary of the bank from selling the delinquent stock on which assessments had been levied and is unpaid, advertised for next Saturday. This sale, by taking the majority of the bank's stock, would not only deprive the directors of assessments, but remove liability for $70 a share still unpaid on the subscription contracts.

Fresno Irrigation Problem.

FRESNO, July 11.—A number of prominent agriculturists are endeavoring to have Ellwood Mead, State Engineer of Wyoming, and expert in charge of irrigation investigation in the Department of Agriculture, make an examination of the Fresno system, with special reference to conservation of water and the legal aspects of water right. The agriculturists decided on this at a recent meeting in San Francisco, and made the matter public here today.

Courts' Opinions Differ.

SEATTLE, July 11.—In the United States District Court today Judge Hanford discharged from custody S. A. Sylvester, who is wanted in North Dakota, for embezzlement. Sylvester has been in jail one year. The State Supreme Court ordered him returned to North Dakota, but this decision was disregarded by Judge Hanford, who holds that the Federal Court has jurisdiction over extradition cases.

Loesh's Two Victims.

OAKLAND, July 11.—Bernard Killan, who was accidentally shot in the head near Haywards by Joseph Loesh, last Sunday morning, died of his injuries at the County Infirmary this afternoon. John Gallagher, the other victim, who was shot in the left eye, will recover, though he will probably lose the sight of the injured eye. Loesh has been released from custody, all concerned being satisfied that the shooting was accidental.

An Abortionist Sentenced.

SPOKANE (Wash.), July 11.—Five years at hard labor in the State penitentiary and a fine of $1000 was the sentence passed this morning by Judge Prather upon Dr. C. W. Power, who was convicted of causing the death of Cora Rinehart at the United States House, last December, by performing a criminal operation upon her and afterward neglecting to give her proper care.

Death After Five Days.

STOCKTON, July 11.—Charles Hutton, who was injured in a runaway while working for Cy Moring, the Valley road contractor, died today at the County Hospital. He was injured internally by the wheels, which passed over his abdomen, and suffered, in fact, for five days until death relieved him. He is supposed to have relatives in San Francisco, but they have not yet been located.

SENATOR ON TRIAL.

CIVIL SERVICE BUREAU INVESTIGATES HIS CONDUCT.

J. H. Gallinger Charged With Violating the Law While He Was Chairman of the Connecticut Republican State Committee—Evidence is Offered.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] CONCORD (N. H.), July 11.—Representatives of the United States Civil Service Bureau began at sitting here today for the purpose of investigating charges preferred against Senator J. H. Gallinger of Concord, by Former Republican Gov. Charles A. Busiel, alleging violations of the civil-service law during the last campaign in this State. The specific charge is that Senator Gallinger, as chairman of the Republican State Committee, distributed circulars appealing to Republican office-holders for contributions to the campaign fund.

Civil service commissioners J. B. Harlow and Mark S. Brewer, who arrived here from Washington were in charge of the investigation. The only witnesses at hand when the session opened were Postmaster Knox of Manchester; National Bank Examiner Carroll of Lowell; and T. F. Clark, who was assistant secretary of the State Committee during the campaign. If the evidence warrants the further prosecution of the case, the United States authorities of the Department of Justice will be called in.

SENATOR CHANDLER'S STATEMENT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] CONCORD (N. H.), July 11.—The principal feature of the session was a long statement by Senator Chandler, previous to which, however, Col. Rufus N. Ellwell, collector of customs at Portsmouth, stated that he had received a circular letter from William F. Chandler, chairman of the Republican State Committee, asking for a contribution to carry on the committee's work. Senator Chandler said: "I was sent to Senator Gallinger in 1898 and again in 1899 that he ought to leave the State Committee for reasons connected with the Civil Service Law, but he would not do so. In 1898 he again took the chairmanship of the committee. I went to him to endeavor to cooperate in the work of the campaign. We talked over the means of raising money, both agreeing that very little would be needed. We spoke of individuals, and of nominees for State offices, but nothing was said of federal office-holders. This was on October 10. Afterward I heard that an assessment circular had been sent out. Gov. Busiel said he had reason to believe a circular for assessment had been sent to office-holders, and he produced a circular which had been sent to State officers and said that it was not the circular sent to federal office-holders. We had a long conference, the result of which was that he said he would complain to the Civil Service Commission, unless some other way could be found to prevent these officers from being assessed."

"Accordingly Gov. Busiel, with my knowledge, asked the commission about the terms of the law. He came to me later and said that he had determined to make a complaint. In this I concurred and the letter of October 24 was prepared, containing the names of those to whom it was believed that the circulars had been sent. I did not go again to the commission during the campaign. The result of my connection with the business was all in the correspondence with the commission. If I and the Federal office-holders who have been requested by the commission to appear here do not come, or if they come and do not testify, I shall tell the commission all I know about the matter."

At the conclusion of Senator Chandler's statement, he exchanged some warm words with Senator Gallinger on Senator Chandler's contribution to the party funds in 1894 and 1896. James O. Lyford, naval officer at the port of Boston, was the last witness. He testified to receiving the circular from Treasurer Thayer. He also stated that the assessment circular was sent to the Federal office-holders in 1898. The commission then adjourned until tomorrow.

N.E.A. Special

The average woman devotes much of her time to improving her personal appearance. Many begin by using some preparation to beautify their complexions, generally one that is claimed to remove the outer cuticle, supposing this to be the quickest remedy. What a silly argument, to claim that burning off the natural skin would cause a new skin to grow—a fine infant-like skin? Did you ever hear your hand hurt from a burn? What follows? A scar, as a matter of course. When you see a woman walking round whose skin is drawn, shiny and super-sensitive, you can make up your mind she is one of the victims. Then comes the idiotic fad of using skin foods—generally harmless, because they absolutely do nothing, except to start a growth of hair on the face.

Why need women resort to such disastrous methods when there's ONE MAGNIFICENT TREATMENT that will make and keep them lovely forever. What is it? We'll give it to you for nothing. You needn't even send a stamp for it or 40c for sample. Free samples of Jeffries proposed to knock out his man in four rounds, or forfeit $500. The National Club made a match for next week, and Jeffries arrived here today to sign articles. The following from Delaney, however, would indicate that Jeffries is unwilling to meet the man who so nearly got a decision over him before he became champion: "Thall informs me that the match is off. You better see him."

DIXON WAS EAGER.

Got the Decision Over Tommy White Who Saved Himself.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
DENVER, July 11.—George Dixon, featherweight champion of the world, was given the decision over Tommy White at the end of a twenty-round fight, which was held at the sixth round to the finish, Tommy's purpose being to avoid a knockout and stay the fight. George's left hand work was the comment of all. He kept his right hand from the ribs to the head and back again so quickly as to almost escape the eye.

Tom O'Rourke sat in Dixon's corner and frequently cautioned him when his over-anxiousness would make him careless. McGee officiated in the same capacity for White. But Masterston was referee. The attendance numbered 220. Dixon weighed in at 129 pounds. The betting was 10 to 8 on Dixon. Dixon forced matters, Tommy being blocked cleverly in the first round and landed several licks on head and chest. There was no damage.

Second round—This round was very fast. George using his left to good advantage. Tommy did his best, but he was out of his left eye as the round closed. Blood trickled from a cut on George's left eye.

Third round—White was cut eye from first, but ran into a stiff left punch from George, who quickly followed with rights and lefts that put White on the defensive. George became careless, and was cautioned showing vicious lefts to Tommy's body as the round closed.

Fourth round—George displayed over-anxious and judged distance badly. Tommy was cool and careful. Just at the end George brought his right with force to Tommy's kidneys and the left to the neck, staggering White. Honors were about even.

Fifth round—Tommy displayed clever ducking and side-stepping, and thereby avoided the fierce rushes of Dixon. The latter was trying for a knockout.

Sixth round—Dixon settled down to business. His hard left on Tommy's face and body visibly weakened the latter, who covered only momentarily until the end of the fight.

From this on to the eighteenth round it was pretty much the same. George was strong on the aggressive all the time. Tommy seemed dazed and led but little. He hung to George a good deal of the time, but Dixon could not place force enough in his blows, although he relied them on Tommy's body and head, but hit in vain.

In the last minute of the twentieth round George brought a hard left to Tommy's neck, which caused him to waver. It looked like the finish, but Tommy straightened out and put Dixon off until the gong sounded, when referee Masterston announced that Dixon was the winner.

Preliminary to the Dixon-White meeting Jimmy Coogan of Denver and "Spitz" Wallace of Pittsburgh fought a fast eight-round draw. The men were well matched, and gave a good exhibition.

RAIN RETARDS TENNIS.

But the Doubles Were Played at Kenwood Yesterday.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
CHICAGO, July 11.—Rain retarded the progress of the western championship tennis tournament at Kenwood today. A heavy down-pour at 2 o'clock soaked the courts and left them too soft for use until late in the afternoon. Play was begun at 5 o'clock, but was confined to the matches in doubles.

The best tennis of the tournament was seen in the few team matches played. Bond and Collins appeared for their first contest together, and displayed championship form. They were obliged to play their best win against Street and Carter. Champion Collins was given the brunt of the playing by Street and Carter, and he did his well.

Hackett and Allen, the Yale men, appeared in doubles and made a good impression. They played two matches and won both with ease, one without dropping a game. Summaries: Doubles, first round: Hackett and Allen defeated Leaville and Kellogg, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

Bond and Collins defeated Street and Carter, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1.

One match alone was played, Norris beating Brooks, 6-3, 6-0.

"I have noticed the publications in regard to the Peoria racing and am kindly asking you if a deposition from me will be given credence, as I am well acquainted with Gates and know that he was alive and well in August, 1894, and living in Arizona under the name of George Dorsey. If you will write to Monahan & Murphy, who run a general store in New Canaan, Cal., they will remember him for we were mining and prospecting partners, and often bought supplies from them. "There is very little of interest in Venezuela affairs," he said. "A small revolution was attempted in the mountains several weeks ago, but the government has it under control. It is expected it will be of considerable service, as it has been impossible to send drafts for small amounts because of the exchange. It will be possible in the future to send amounts of less than $5, and parcels can be sent under similar methods as those in operation with other countries."

Pearl Hart, Woman Bandit.

TUCSON, (Ariz.) July 8.—Pearl Hart, the young woman bandit, is an inmate of the Puna County Jail, having been brought from Florence because of better accommodations here for prisoners of her sex. Before leaving Florence she was photographed on the back steps of the County Jail and a copy of the picture is reproduced above. She discarded the trousers and cartridge belt for awhile but has lately again donned her masculine rig, because, she explains, she feels better in it. The young woman is said not to be a pleasant prisoner, having an insatiable craving for morphine. The officers find it necessary to keep a close watch upon her to see that she does not secrete enough morphine to kill herself. She has already attempted to remove herself from mundane affairs by means of an overdose of the drug. She alternates between blissful slumber in the morphine period and wild ravings when the drug is not to be had. She continues to tell a pathetic story how she robbed the Kane Springs stage to get enough money to go east and see her poor, sick mother in Canada. The Canadian tale is a fake. The woman is from Toledo, O., where her parents, well-to-do people, still reside.

NATIONAL EDUCATIONAL

The great convention of the National Educational Association of 1899 may now be said to be in full swing. The opening session of the general convention was held in Hazard's Pavilion yesterday afternoon. That huge auditorium has never contained a more brilliant audience than that which assembled there at 3 o'clock to witness the opening of one of the greatest meetings of educators ever held in the world.

There has been some complaint because all who applied for admission were not permitted to enter, but that was a physical impossibility. The people should remember, especially the residents of Los Angeles, that this is a teachers' convention, designed for the benefit of those engaged in teaching the young idea how to shoot, and that teachers are, consequently, entitled to precedence in accommodations. Acting on instructions of the management, many people who did not wear teachers' badges, were turned away by the doorkeepers yesterday, simply because there was not room for all who desired to attend the opening session. All known teachers were admitted, and these alone are almost sufficient to fill the spacious hall. The little remaining room was soon occupied and many interested persons were unavoidably disappointed. This unfortunate fact emphasizes the necessity of the erection of a large convention hall in this city to provide for future gatherings of this nature, with which Los Angeles, by reason of her numerous attractions, and boundless hospitality may be favored.

The number of strangers in the city was largely augmented yesterday by fresh arrivals. The streets were crowded from early morning till late at night, and the whole city had a gala appearance.

The day opened with an excursion to Tropic to give the visitors a chance to inspect an orange orchard. About 700 took advantage of this opportunity.

The National Council of Education held its concluding session; receptions of delegates were held at the various headquarters, and the general convention of the N.E.A., as already stated, got under way. Two sessions were held, one in the afternoon, the other in the evening. At both sessions brilliant addresses were made, notably the annual address of President E. O. Lytle and an address by William T. Harris, National Commissioner of Education for our new possessions. Both of these eminent gentlemen, as well as others who spoke, took advanced ground in favor of national expansion and the spreading of American education and civilization among alien peoples. These sentiments met hearty responses on behalf of the vast audience who heard them declared.

Today the departmental conventions will begin, no less than thirteen being scheduled, besides morning and evening sessions of the general convention.

AT HEADQUARTERS.

Heaviest Day's Arrivals Congests the Two Large Rooms.

Yesterday's arrivals of teachers from all points of the compass exceeded even those of the preceding day by considerable. The Membership Committee estimated last evening that the memberships reported from the tickets turned in yesterday numbered at least 3000, while the best estimate of the arrivals yesterday on the many sections on both roads seems to be from 3000 to 3500, making the total number of visitors in the city 12,000 or 13,000. Affairs have hardly got settled, however, at the various State or general headquarters, and they will probably still be in more or less confusion through today, on account of additional arrivals who are expected to number several hundred. Among these will be delegations of teachers from Chicago, that city being rather late in sending its representatives.

There was something like consternation yesterday when it was learned that most of the trains were considerably behind schedule time, and a large number of visitors would not be able to attend the first session of the convention. The Southern Pacific trains were from three to five hours late, while a washout on the Santa Fe track at Hector Springs, near Bartow, delayed trains on that road from twelve to sixteen hours. This threw the trains into a bunch in the afternoon, and at all the offices of the association and the local committees there was a strain on the workers throughout the latter part of the day and late into the night.

The passengers on the train which was wrecked in Northern California arrived in the city late Monday night, with the exception of the unfortunate ones who lost their lives and one or two who were considerably injured. The hardships of the tour across the desert have been endured by the visitors with very little complaint, and it is evident that while it was not a pleasant feature of the tour, the teachers generally are glad of the opportunity to make the acquaintance of a form of the world which they have heretofore known only by report, and which has been considerable of a mystery to all who have not seen it.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

Considerable Important Business Transacted at First Session.

The board of directors of the National Educational Association held their first session yesterday morning, the meeting being presided over by President E. Oram Lytle. Among those present were the following directors: E. Oram Lytle, I. C. McNeill, Nashville board representative; Nicholas M. Butler, Aaron Gove, J. M. Greenwood, Albert G. Lane, F. Louis Soltan, A. R. Taylor, E. E. White, W. B. Powell, W. H. Bartholomew, Fulton, J. L. Holway, L. D. Harvey, Carrington; Estelle Reel, L. C. Greenlee, Mrs. E. R. Jackson, O. C. Whitney, Elmer E. Brown.

Probably the most important business transacted was the creation of the Department of Indian Education, which act was at the solicitation of Miss Estelle Reel, superintendent of the Indian schools of the United States. While the Indian School Association is in session in Los Angeles at the same time as the National Educational Association, the two have heretofore been entirely independent. By the action yesterday, the Indian teachers were brought into closer touch with the public schools of the country, and it is believed that the change will be advantageous to both organizations.

The report of Treasurer I. C. McNeill was an important document. It showed that during the past year the association has been able to place $10,000 in the permanent fund to meet future contingencies that may arise. Including this amount, the disbursements of the association for the past year have been $26,010.92. There is now in the treasury $2556.18, to which is to be added all income from the present convention of the association.

The board of trustees made an interesting report of the amounts of investments belonging to the permanent fund, as follows: Mortgages on real estate, $21,000; Kansas school and municipal bonds, $27,000; Indiana, Illinois and Missouri school bonds, $19,500; cash on hand for investment, $6500; total in fund, $74,000.

The following resolution was unanimously passed:

"Resolved, that the president of the National Educational Association be requested to send the following telegram of congratulation on behalf of the association to the American delegates to the Peace Conference now in session at The Hague:

"Andrew D. White, Chairman of American Delegation to Peace Conference, The Hague, Holland:

"The National Educational Association, in convention, tenders American delegation to Peace Conference heartiest congratulations on success which has attended their noble effort in behalf of principle of arbitration."

A resolution was passed extending the condolence of the members of the association to the friends of the unfortunate victims of the train-wreck in Northern California.

THE CONVENTION BEGINS.

Visiting Educators Respond to Hearty California Greetings.

In all its varied career of revivals, prize fights, campaign meetings, flower festivals, balls, banquets and melodramas, Hazard's Pavilion has never been more taxed beyond its capacity than yesterday afternoon, when the National Educational Association held the opening session of its annual convention.

The crush within was less than it has been on other occasions, though from the corners behind the stage to the flag-draped walls of the upper gallery the thousands of spectators were wedged tight, for special precautions had been taken to prevent danger from over-crowding, but the doors were closed when the Pavilion was as full as it could safely hold, and those who crowded without were forced to content themselves with the echoes of the orchestra and the sound of clapping.

The interior of the Pavilion was a bright and beautiful sight. There was an immense preponderance of women in the audience, all clad in cool and summery garments, and gay enough to complement the brilliancy of the decorations. The hall was transformed from its customary barn-like appearance by the adornments of bunting, palm leaves, flags, festoons and Chinese ghiracars which the experience of many recurring feasts has taught the city to use to the best effect.

High overhead, in the center of the hall, was suspended an immense Japanese umbrella, with a smaller umbrella floating below, each with a circle of pendant lanterns. Long festoons of Nile green stretched away to the sides of the hall, alternating with strings of gorgeous Chinese lanterns, which fluttered in the breeze from the open gallery windows. The fronts of the galleries were draped with green and with gold, and N.E.A. banners hung at frequent intervals. The pillars were hidden behind the immense fronds of the date palm. Upon the walls of the lower floor were draped the flags of many nations—the Union Jack, the single star of Cuba, the cross and bars of Hawaii, the red, yellow and green of Mexico, and above them all dominating the whole decorative scheme were the Stars and Stripes.

When first the doors were thrown open only the wearers of the N.E.A. membership badges were admitted. The forward rows of seats were at first kept vacant for the little band of active members—those who belong to the association year in and year out, and do not join simply to get reduced railroad rates, or to help out the local committee—but eventually the crush of incoming people grew too much for the ushers, and whoever liked pressed his way into the sacred precincts. Just before the meeting began the doors were thrown wide for whoever wished to enter, and only closed when the hall was full.

On the stage sat Gov. Henry T. Gage, President E. Oram Lytle, Secretary Irwin Shepard, Chairman F. Q. Story of the Local Executive Committee; Rev. Charles Clark Pierce, pastor of Memorial Baptist Church; State Superintendent of Public Instruction Thomas J. Kirk, Prof. Elmer E. Brown, Mayor Fred Eaton, Superintendent J. A. Foshat, N. C. Dougherty, Dr. Emerson E. White, Superintendent J. H. Phillips, President Charles Cassatt Davis of the Board of Education, John Sweet and others. The Woman's Orchestra, all the musicians clad in spotless white, occupied the center of the stage, directly behind the chairman's stand.

THE GAVEL FALLS.

Chairman F. Q. Story's gavel fell at 3:15 o'clock, but it was several minutes before the belated had settled into their seats, the rustle of programmes subdued, and the hum of talk quieted down. Chairman Story addressed the convention briefly, in part as follows:

"On behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, the Board of Trade, the Board of Education and the citizens of Los Angeles, I extend to you a heartfelt welcome. It gives me the greatest possible pleasure to express the wish and the hope that you may receive as many pleasant impressions and enjoy as many pleasant thoughts as the committee has experienced in becoming acquainted with the N.E.A. and preparing for your coming."

After prayer by Rev. Mr. Pierce, the Woman's Orchestra, under the direction of Harley Hamilton, rendered "Klingetta," the official N.E.A. march, composed by Marvin MacKenzie, a Los Angeles High School student. This was the first official hearing of the march, and it caught with a promptness and unanimity that were both encouraging and merited. The composition has several melodious themes that have been handled in an original manner, and the orchestration, by A. Wilhartz, brings out the good points effectively. "Klingetta" has swing, dash, go, and originality, and promises to become deservedly popular, not only during the convention, but here and elsewhere, as soon as it is known.

GOVERNOR'S WELCOME.

The welcome of California for the visitors was voiced by Gov. Henry T. Gage, in a speech in which he discussed the evolution in American history of "the era of mind." His address was as follows:

"We should never forget the great debt of gratitude which we owe to the memory of the sturdy pioneers of the East, West, North and South, whose heroism, industry and perseverance hewed in the primeval forest blockhouses and established villages, forming the barriers against savage attacks, and there created the nucleus of American civilization."

"The ax, the shovel, the pick and the plow, in the hands of this vanguard of progress, removed the cumulative obstacles left by nature, the dark recesses of the backwoods, and by their rugged trails prepared easy routes for the railway engineer, whose works now attract the wonder and admiration of the modern traveler."

"These achievements, though under the direction of high intelligence, nevertheless represent in the history of our American people the era of matter—the era of physical strife."

"But man's needs are mental as well as physical."

"Shelter, food, raiment and rest constitute a portion only of our desires. The Great Creative Power which spoke amid the darkness and solitude at the world's birth, saying: 'Let there be light!' likewise spoke into the senseless clay the mightier words: 'Let there be mind!'

"And thus inspired by that divine injunction, man, since that first electric current of thought sped through his brain, finds daily need of intellectual development."

"Therefore, in the track of the hardy pioneer followed the teacher and the scholar. The blazed forest trails and monuments of rock marked the pathway of the frontiersman; the book, the tablet, and the pen showed the teacher's line of march."

"While the ground was plowed, the minds of man, woman and child were taught to reason and to know. The blockhouses were transformed by the wizards of education into school houses. The humble house of worship, formed of unshapely timber, was changed into the portentous church, with its chaste, tapering spire, splitting the sunlight in its heavenward course, and attesting the marvelous growth of mind and moral. The log cabin of the forester became the elegant villa of the merchant. The scholar, statesman, artist, sculptor and mechanic—all better housed and better fed—sprang up amid the scenes which once knew only the toils and perils of the Indian fighter."

"Thus was evolved in our American history the era of mind."

"To you, ladies and gentlemen of the National Educational Association, whose noble profession imposes the duty of cultivating the minds of the future men and women who will labor in instruction and adorn the fields of American art, letters and government—to you, earnest and devoted disciples of learning—and worthy successors of the American pioneers of knowledge, the people of California look with confidence for the advancement of the splendid educational work of your predecessors."

"On behalf, therefore, of the people of this State, I, as the executive, am afforded the high honor of greeting you each and all, and of bidding you a sincere and hearty welcome to our coast. Trusting in your matured intelligence, wisdom and scholarship, I fervently hope that our own and other State schools will reap the fruits of your timely and most pleasant visit."

SUPT. KIRK'S ADDRESS.
Hon. Thomas J. Kirk, State Superintendent of Instruction, welcomed the visiting teachers and others, on behalf of the educational interests of the State. Mr. Kirk said:

"Educators of America: Greeting from the teachers of California. All the gates of the Golden West are flung wide open to you, our mountain peaks to admit you, the valleys smile at your approach, the very breezes whisper their approval, all nature sings together for joy, and all our people join in the chorus of welcome. Even old Sol beams upon you with a warmth of affection which he rarely bestows upon those native sons and daughters born here. If you are weary from travel, here find refreshment and repose. If the heat and sands of the desert have made you thirsty and covered you with dust, our streams and fountains sparkle with the water of life, and our surf removes all stains but those of conscience. Find rest and refreshment here, ye may, visit every portion of our State, a vast empire on the Pacific Coast. The grandeur of our mountains and the quiet beauty of our valleys will delight your eyes, the murmur of our pines and the music of our ocean will charm your ears. The world has heard the big guns of the Oregon, the Monterey and the Olympia; it will be your privilege during this meeting to hear other big guns of California—such as Jordan, Brown, Foshat, Applaud."

"Our climate will rejuvenate your entire being (climate on sale by all Los Angeles real estate dealers at $10 per square foot.)"

"You have seen small specimens of our fruits in the East, here you will find the real article, such as we use ourselves or keep for our distinguished guests. All things grow to great size here, even our prices and our stories. Those are not pumpkins hanging on yonder trees; they are the golden fruits of California, the far famed oranges of California. No dragon guards them; the dog is chained; the barbed wire is down; approach and help yourselves. Take a siesta under our fig tree, pluck fruit of our vine. Sip our vintage if you wish, just a taste that you may know whereof you speak. The old world vineyards, our orchards of prune, pear, peach, almond, apricot, walnut, olive, soil and sunshine have been generous beyond measure to our people. Their wish to be equally generous to you."

"Our broad acres of grain, stretching beyond the reach of eye, feed the hungry multitude of the old world; our bean fields furnish brains for Boston; [Laughter] our forests are housing the dwellers on all the borders of the vast Pacific. Our mines of gold and silver still fill with strength and vigor the veins and arteries of your commerce; our copper mines are helping to supply the commercial and intellectual world the nerves along which flashes the electric spark binding forty-five States into one great nation, uniting the people of earth into one universal brotherhood, and most valued of all, our educational system crowned by two universities is training the brains which shall give mental and moral guidance to the entire body politic."

"On this western shore, separated in large measure by the mountains and the desert from the influences of the East, cut off from the traditions of the past, education here has taken on some new phases of development, and has had phenomenal growth. Through the system of raising revenue for school maintenance is unique. It is what we believe to be a happy blending of the State, the county and the district system."

"During the last ten years secondary and higher education have had an unprecedented growth. The influence of Senator Stanford and the continued generosity of his wife, the great university bearing their name has been established, and now receives 1500 students. Its endowment is over twenty millions of dollars. [Applause.]

"Within the same period our colleges at Berkeley have increased their enrollment from 350 to 1700. Including the affiliated colleges located in San Francisco, our State University now has a total enrollment of 2425. But numbers do not tell the whole story. There has been an enlarged curriculum to meet the growing demands of modern life. Berkeley, looking back over her history through the Golden Gate and beholding beyond the Pacific new fields for peaceful conquests has established a school of mechanical arts and crafts, of commerce. We are among the first universities of the world to recognize and act upon the fact that business pursuits as well as the learned professions demand special preparation and broad culture."

"In 1889 there were but sixty-two high schools in the State. Today there are 125. With increase in numbers the standard of the work has been raised. The majority of our high schools are changing, or have changed, from a three to a four years' course. Our elementary schools, the people's colleges, have advanced pari passu with our high schools. They are properly conceded to be the basis upon which the whole superstructure of our educational edifice is erected. Our rural schools, with an average term of eight months, are the special pride of California."

"For the preparation of teachers, pedagogical departments have been established in both our universities and our normal schools have increased from two to five. All this advance and interest in education is in response to the demands of the spirit of progress that pervades the people of California. And yet we have fallen short of our ideals."

"According to Commissioner Harris, 82 per cent. of the attendance in the public schools of the United States is in the first three years. Our records show a great advance over this average, still we realize that we are giving the masses of children inadequate preparation for the best citizenship. This presents us with two problems—how to increase the school years, how to continue education after school years. The schooling of so large a majority limited to three or four years? For this there are several reasons, the first is poverty, real or imagined. The demands the labor of the child for the support of the family. The remedy for this is compulsory education. The child is the ward of the State, and the State for its own preservation must insist upon intelligent citizenship. The State, therefore, must furnish all that is necessary to the education of the child even though that should be its entire support."

"The second cause is failure on the part of the parents. We must, generally, to appreciate the importance and value of education. Parents' and teachers' meetings, discussions of educational questions, and the public press, will serve to create an enlightened criticism of school work. A third reason for children leaving school at so early an age is the failure of the school to take hold of the vital interests of the child. We need a better knowledge of children. The difference between the adult and the child is not one of quantity, but rather of quality. We have too long considered the child the miniature man, whereas, he is a different being. We must know the child as he is that we may educate him from what he is to what he should become. The child soon wearies of that subject which does not arouse his present interest. School is not merely a preparation for life, it is actual living. Life properly begun in school will continue beyond it."

"The present century has been called the age of public schools, the next may be the age of public education. The nations of antiquity had their great scholars and profound learning while the masses were left in dense ignorance."

N. E. A. REPORTS.

During the sessions of the National Educational Association in Los Angeles, The Times will print such complete reports of proceedings and so much information of the doings of delegates that the visiting teachers will find in its columns all that they would like to tell their friends at home. A pretty little souvenir of the N. E. A. is given to every teacher who leaves an order for the paper.

THE PROPOSED BICYCLE ORDINANCE.

There are manifestly some defects in the proposed bicycle ordinance, the draft of which is now before the Board of Public Works for consideration. As a whole, the proposed ordinance is to be commended. It is a decided step in the right direction, and with some amendments which will doubtless be suggested by a more careful consideration of the subject, it will serve a useful purpose in regulating the use of bicycles and other vehicles on the streets of Los Angeles.

One of the obvious omissions of the ordinance is the lack of any provision for the use of lamps. It would be well, indeed, to insert in the ordinance a provision requiring all vehicles which traverse the streets at night to use lamps. Not bicycles alone, but vehicles of all kinds should carry lamps at night, in order that they may be readily located, and that the danger of collisions may be reduced to a minimum. But the fact that the bicycle is almost noiseless, renders the use of lamps, by bicyclists, more urgent than in the case of other vehicles. Good bicycle lamps may now be obtained in the market at a reasonable price, and the new ordinance should certainly require their use. But the ordinance should be made applicable to all classes of vehicles.

The proposed ordinance, as it stands at present, limits the speed of bicycles to eight miles per hour on all streets within the city limits. This restriction seems to be unnecessarily severe. The bicycle is feet-footed, and eight miles per hour is a slow pace where the road is good, and is practically unobstructed. The cables formerly in use on First street, Grand avenue, and other streets of the city, were driven, ordinarily, at a speed of eight miles per hour. Such a rate of speed is if anything too high in the central portions of the city, where the streets are congested with vehicles of all kinds, and with pedestrians. But the case is different in the outlying streets. A rate of speed which is dangerous on Spring street, between the plaza and Ninth street, is perfectly safe on Figueroa, Main, or any of the north and south streets, south of Ninth. It would be well to make some distinction in this matter—to designate a district where a slow rate of speed (say a maximum of six miles per hour) should be compulsory, and to permit higher speeds (say ten, twelve, or even fifteen miles per hour) in sections and on streets where such higher rates of speed are perfectly safe.

If the ordinance should be adopted in its present form, it would be unlawful for a wheelman to ride to or from Garvanza, for example, at a speed exceeding eight miles per hour, although the greater part of the distance is an open country road, where twelve to fifteen miles per hour is a much safer rate than six miles per hour on Spring street, between the plaza and Ninth. The reckless scorching, of course, should be sat down upon under all circumstances and conditions. But there is reason in all things, and the bicycle should not unnecessarily be deprived of any part of its usefulness. Its superiority over the ordinary ox-cart and ice-wagon of commerce is due in no small degree to its fleetness, and it would be both absurd and unjust to curtail its speed, except in cases where the public safety or the public good demands it.

Furthermore, the proposed ordinance, in its present form, is unjust to bicyclists in this: It limits the speed of bicycles to eight miles per hour in all streets within the limits of the city (extending even unto Garvanza). But the speed of horse-vehicles is limited (to six miles per hour) only within a certain narrow territory, no limitation being placed upon the speed outside of such designated territory. This is an unfair discrimination, which ought not to be tolerated for a moment. The bicycle, as a useful vehicle, is entitled to the same rights as other vehicles, on the public streets. Bicyclists should ask for nothing more, and they should be content with nothing less.

THE TIMES would suggest that this phase of the question might be adjusted satisfactorily by amending the ordinance in such manner as to permit a certain speed, well within the limits of safety, for all classes of vehicles inside of a prescribed district, placing no restrictions upon the speed outside of such district. In other words, place the bicycle upon the same footing as that accorded to horse-vehicles, in the proposed ordinance as it stands at present. This provision limits the speed of horse-vehicles to six miles per hour within the district bounded by Bellevue avenue on the north, Los Angeles street on the east, Tenth street on the south, and Figueroa street on the west, but places no limitation upon the speed outside of the district designated. Such an ordinance would doubtless be entirely acceptable to every sensible bicyclist in the city. Few desire to ride faster than six miles per hour in the central part of the city; but few wish to be restricted to an eight-mile-per-hour dog-trot where the streets are clear and the wheeling good.

Another point: The proposed ordinance requires that all bicyclists shall carry a gong or bell. This is a wise provision—and it would not be a bad idea to make it applicable to all kinds and classes of vehicles. There is seemingly as much reason for compelling the drivers of private horse-vehicles to use gongs or bells, as for compelling bicyclists to use them. But the proposed ordinance requires the bicyclist to ring his gong or bell at all street intersections, upon passing any street car, wagon, or other vehicle going in the same direction, and "to sound said bell or gong while still distant not less than fifteen feet nor more than thirty feet from any pedestrian in the act of crossing any such street, lane, or alley." It is apparent that this regulation, if adopted and rigidly enforced, would require the bicyclist to keep his gong or bell almost constantly ringing while traversing the central business portions of the city. The noises of the busy streets are confusing and nerve-racking under present conditions, and to add to them unnecessarily would be little better than murder.

It is well to require every bicyclist to carry a gong or bell, but it might be wise to leave something to the judgment and discretion of the individual, as applied to the requirements of particular emergencies. The ordinary wheelman knows enough to ring his bell or gong when there is real danger, and if he is required to carry a gong or bell, he may be depended upon to use it where and when there is actual need for its use as a warning. A too rigid rule as to the use of bells and gongs might turn our streets into a pandemonium, out of which would come greater confusion and danger than exist under present conditions. The possession of a bell or gong implies the proper and rational use of the same. Perhaps it may be well to remember that the riders of bicyclists are rational human beings, not mere machines, and to afford them some little latitude for the exercise of their intelligence and judgment.

While the City Council is in the regulating business, it might not be amiss for it to overhaul the ordinances governing the operation of trolley cars on the streets of the city—if any such ordinances exist. Trolley cars do not infrequently whirl through some of the city streets at the rate of fifteen miles per hour, and even twenty-five or more miles per hour. It is certainly not just to permit such rates of speed by the trolley cars while restricting the comparatively harmless bicycle to a snail's pace of eight miles. At street intersections, also, the trolley cars often move at a rate which is dangerous, not only to the occupants of the cars but to everybody in the vicinity. Let the ordinance apply as well to street cars as to bicycles and other vehicles. Let it not be in the nature of class legislation, but let it be an honest effort to increase the public safety by wise and well-considered enactments. And, finally, when the ordinance shall have been adopted, let it be enforced to the letter, without fear or favor. If it be found defective, let it be amended, repealed, added to, or modified in conformity to the requirements of experience. But, so long as it remains a municipal law, let it be enforced in good faith.

IN RE MONACO—CASTELLANE.

If the "whirligig of Time brings his revenge," it also has its opera bouffe. It some times happens that there is a real man in the comedies of this world. Such an one is the Prince of Monaco. His country is the most opera bouffish of all countries. Monaco, the price paltry thereof, which appears in all encyclopedias, geographies, annual registers, and the Almanach de Gotha, is a real country, just three miles long and one and a half miles wide—that is, an area so vast that all Monaco could be placed in the center of the city of Los Angeles and there would be a territory in East Los Angeles, Boyle Heights and Garvanza twice as big as Monaco.

The statistics of Monaco are summed as follows: It has a little more than 13,000 inhabitants, contained in the three cities of Monaco, La Condamine, and Monte Carlo—the last the notorious gambling hell of Europe, where reside, principally in the winter time, about four thousand genteel "Poker Davies" (of both sexes) and their victims. Add to the foregoing that Monaco has a standing army of 127 men, officers and all!

Now, Lilliputian as Monaco is in size, and maddening as she is in reputation—seeing that the revenue of her princely house, to say nothing of her army, is wholly derived from her roulette tables—she has recently forged to the front in a decent way.

The present Prince of Monaco would not live at home during his father's life time, but resided in Paris, devoting himself mostly to science. He married a daughter of the Duke of Hamilton, which marriage, for some reason, the Pope entirely disapproved of—both the Prince and his wife being Roman Catholics. In 1889, Charles III, the then reigning Prince of Monaco, died, and his son, Prince Albert, succeeded him. This princely house of Monaco has as its surname "Grimaldi," the same as that of the famous comic clown, who delighted all Europe three-quarters of a century ago. However, before Prince Albert Honoré Grimaldi ascended his throne at Monaco, he took to himself another wife—this time a Jewess, the widow of the Duke of Richelieu. The Widow Richelieu was the daughter of Heine, the banker, and the niece of the illustrious German poet Heinrich Heine, who was of a Jewish family of Dusseldorf.

It then was but natural that the Princess of Monaco, being originally a Jewess should write to Mme. Dreyfus and extend to her the hospitality of Monaco, and it was right noble in the Prince to back up his wife in her invitation to the heroic and suffering wife of an innocent French officer whom all France for a time unjustly howled against.

Now comes the opera bouffe performer, the Count Castellane, whose name is not among the noble families inscribed in the infallible Almanach de Gotha, but wherein, for generations, have figured the names of Monaco and Richelieu. The Count of Castellane threw dust in the eyes of a few American women, but more dust—Gould gold dust—in the eyes of Frenchmen. He undertook with hard-earned Republican dollars to play the role of monarchical revolutionist in Paris, and fizzled. And now all Europe is guffawing over the manner in which the Prince of Monaco sat down on him and made him ridiculous in the eyes of the world. These are lessons in history, even if the scene and the actors are on a very small scale.

FOR THE TEXAS FLOOD SUFFERERS.

THE TIMES acknowledges receipt of $2, and numerous articles of clothing from William Ershenwaller, for the sufferers by the terrible floods which have inundated the prolific lowlands of the State of Texas, leaving tens of thousands of human beings homeless, clothless and a-hungred. This is a matter which appeals to the most tender sympathies of those whose lots have fallen in pleasant places, and THE TIMES trusts that this contribution is the initial offering of a big fund from wealthy and generous Los Angeles. The response to the cry for succor from Texas should be immediate, for it is now that the aid is wanted, and not a month from now. We will be pleased to take charge of any further contributions of either money or clothing that may be offered to these destitute and suffering fellow-countrymen of ours who have been so grievously smitten.

New York has a woman who chloroforms her children before spanking them. The efficiency of the punishment is not apparent, for although it may work well in New York, it wouldn't in California. Here the children must be fully alive to ministrations of this sort or it wouldn't feaze 'em.

WAS THE ENGINEER ASLEEP?

According to a report given out by officials of the Southern Pacific Company, the passenger train loaded with teachers destined to Los Angeles which crashed into a freight train at Newman in the San Joaquin Valley on Sunday night last was several minutes ahead of time, and the conductor of the freight train declares that a brakeman with a lantern was sent back as a measure of precaution against precisely what occurred. Putting these things together, and assuming that the statements are true, we must conclude that the engineer of the passenger train speeded his machine up to a forty-mile-per-hour gait and then settled himself down in his cab for a comfortable snooze. For, according to published accounts, the train was going at that rate of speed when the freight train was overtaken and the rear end of it demolished, the while two teachers in the passenger train were killed outright and thirteen other persons were injured.

There should be a searching investigation into this awful affair and the guilty should be punished whether he be official or subordinate. If the engineer had been on duty twenty-four or forty-eight hours and sank to sleep from sheer exhaustion, then the railway official who detailed him for the duty of piloting a train loaded with precious human lives should be punished for manslaughter. If, on the other hand, the engineer was solely at fault for running ahead of time and crashing into a train on a level plain where a light may be seen for forty or fifty miles, then he should be made to suffer, and whoever else with him who had a hand in causing this wretched accident.

Dozens of persons have been killed in this State by reason of carelessness on the part of railway officials and employees, but so far not one of them has been punished by the law. It is high time that the ways of justice be amended in this regard. The person or persons responsible for the Newman disaster should be made an example of.

NEIGHBORS, HIDE YOUR SORES!

There are measly makers of remarks to the south of us, as well as to the north, and in testimony thereof listen to this from the San Diego Union: "It is unfortunate for Los Angeles to have such a spell of weather just when the city is filling up with eastern people, etc., etc." Not so fast, envious and narrow-minded San Diego, for while it is true that the mercury touched the 92-deg. mark on Sunday, there was an invigorating breeze from the wide expanse of the surging sea all day, but the day following the temperature dropped to 84 deg., and on yesterday the weather was all that could be desired by even the most exacting San Diegan, with a prospect of continuance during the week. Our visitors are charmed with the city, the climate and the people, they are having a good time, are glad they came, and should San Diego not show a spirit of meanness, perhaps four or five of them may go down there in order to see how different two cities can be when they are separated by a matter of but 120 miles. We are sorry that all the towns in the State cannot have the N.E.A. in its midst in a body, but as there is only one Los Angeles, the situation as it stands cannot be avoided. We beg our envious neighbors not to weep, and strongly advise them, as a matter of good policy, against making a contemptible exhibition of jealousy in the face of the thousands of intelligent educators who have come to California in the interest of the great cause of teaching the young idea to shoot with better aim, and incidentally to see the beauty spot of California. Los Angeles has the N.E.A., as it has had many other attractions in the course of its career, and so long as the teachers are glad they came, we trust our neighbors, both north and south, will carefully refrain from placing their sores on exhibition.

THE UNEMPLOYED ELSEWHERE.

The United States is not the only country in the world in which there is a great demand for political jobs. A paper published in Australia, where the government owns the railroads, reports that 7000 young people are anxiously applying for a few hundred vacancies, recently created in the railroad service. Possibly this may be largely explained by the fact that Australia also has an unemployed problem to contend with. For several years in New South Wales relief works have been in operation, and thousands of men have been employed in clearing scrub lands, of which 450,000 acres have been cleared. In spite of this the superintendent of the labor bureau in Sydney admits that there are between 3000 and 5000 unemployed in that city and suburbs.

It looks as if Australia had to deal with much the same question as the United States. The leader says: "The continual recurrence of the unemployed trouble in every country points to something wrong in the general conditions of labor. As far as Victoria is concerned, Mr. Kernot is of opinion that there is a disposition among the young to take life too easily. They are satisfied with getting a job, and do not trouble about fitting themselves for higher class work. This happy-go-lucky method is well enough while they are young, but as years go on they find themselves elbowed out of the scramble, and have left the opportunity go by of making a niche for themselves."

The daily grind and burdensome task of the professional writer is brightened, now and again, by the added inspirations of love and reverence, so the routine work of the head, here, gives way to the nobler way and impulse of the heart. Hamilton Wood Spalding, son of William A.

Spalding of the Los Angeles Herald, a beautiful boy, physically, mentally and morally, recently passed away.

"More are men's ends marked, than their lives before:
 The setting sun, and music at the close,
 As the last taste of sweets, is sweetest last;
 Writ in remembrance, more than things long past."

The immortal bard here sounds the fountain of paternal love which wells from the heart and love-inspired pen of this father in a memorial poem embalming the memories of his dead son. The artistic beauties of the verse are passed here, for the nobler meal of living sympathy for the love-hungered hearts. Men whose profession it is to mirror the multifarious vagaries of humanity know and feel for true bereavement, and so the pang of sadness that wounds the writer of this graceful tribute today, finds a reflex pain in the hearts of his fellow-writers everywhere. Sincere grief cannot be mitigated by vulgar pity, so to the bereaved we quote this gem from Mr. Spalding's verse:

"Dismiss thy fears;
 He that doth note the sparrow's fall and hold,
 Within the hollow of His hand the fate
 Of all created things, is just and good.
 'Tis not for man to fathom all His ways,
 But be thou satisfied; the end is Peace."

The San Francisco newspapers continue to appeal to the teachers in attendance at the meeting of the N.E.A. in this city to go and see the metropolis, and there are tears in the voices of the appealers. No doubt after our visitors have seen the beautiful land that lies about the City of the Angels some of them will go north in search of an antidote against the desire to come to California to live. We fear they will find it.

A San Francisco preacher, the Rev. W. M. Woodward, says that "the formation of great trusts has made trades unions a necessity," but is it not a fact that the trades unions were here first, and is it not barely possible that the formation of trades unions has had something to do with the organization of trusts? In discussing a question it is sometimes wise to look at it from all sides.

Chicago is being proud of a merchant who can afford to pay taxes on $26,250,000 of real estate and personal property, but the question is, does he do it? If so, some enterprising Chicago newspaper ought to print his picture so we can see what he looks like.

A prominent woman physician in San Francisco died from fright a few days since through the setting off of a burglar alarm by a dog. The moral of this would seem to be: Do not keep a burglar alarm or a dog in the house—certainly not both at once.

The next time that Gov. Hogg is invited to New York to make a speech he should be warned against turning loose a Brazos River torrent of oratory in favor of one man, when Tammany Hall has another fellow on the string that it is trying to boom.

The "husband trains" are now being put on to the summer resorts out of the big cities on Saturdays, back East, and now the wives can get even for previous outrages by stepping on their husbands' trains. Ha! ha! not to say ho! ho!

If the microbes are taking possession of the telephone transmitters, those who are fearful of the little critters should ring up a messenger boy and wait a week until he gets back with the answer to the communication.

According to the Westminster Gazette the straw hat has invaded the House of Commons. The next thing to expect is the golf sock and the shirt with a voice on it like a foghorn. Indeed, the world do move.

The Buffalo Express now gets the power to run its machinery over Niagara Falls. You wouldn't think, to look at our esteemed contemporary, that it would take such a big waterfall to whirl its wheels.

The best way for Count Castellane and the Prince of Monaco to settle their differences is by cutting the cards or by some method equally familiar to "The man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo."

Another move is on foot for a cycle path to Santa Monica. Good, now let us have the path about which we have been talking for years and toward the construction of which so little has been done.

The theatrical magnates back East have decreed that the blonde-haired woman must go. If the adjective peroxide is used in this connection we do not know of any one that will object.

The kissing bug ought to be in Los Angeles now. What a glorious time he would have exploring the field of cardinal-lipped schoolma'ams that is in full blossom on every street in town.

Count Castellane, in addition to making ducks and drakes of Anna Gould's good money, made in America, is likewise making a picturesque ass of himself.

We cannot think of a more lovely sight than that of the few male teachers who are here endeavoring to keep their heads above the sea of billowy shirtwaists.

A Maine fisherman claims to have captured a genuine sea serpent. Shade of Lorenzo Dow but what are they giving the fishermen to drink up in that country now?

A London paper refers to Mark Hanna as "a chafing lion." Is it possible that Mr. Hanna has also become inoculated with Angliophobia?

Events in Society.

[Communications intended for the society columns of The Times must be signed, and must be written on only one side of the page. Anonymous announcements of social events are written on both sides of a page, have to be rewritten, will receive no attention.]

The society event of the week was the annual lawn fête for the benefit of the Los Angeles Free Kindergarten Association, given yesterday afternoon on the beautiful grounds that surround the Severance residence on West Adams street. A number of visiting delegates to the N.E.A. were present, and the natural beauty of the grounds were greatly admired by eastern visitors. The guests of honor occupied seats in the center of the lawn, and included Mme. Modjeska, not yet sixty, Starr Jordan of Stanford University, School Superintendent Townsend and wife of Hawaii, Miss Estelle Reed, National Superintendent of Public Schools; Prof. Charles H. Kees of Massachusetts, formerly of Throop Polytechnic, Pasadena, and Mrs. Raop L. Rogers, Dyer, a noted kindergarten promoter of the East. Fifteen young Indian girls of the Indian school of Southern California, furnished the musical entertainment during the afternoon, and Smiser's Orchestra and two professional palmists also contributed to the pleasure of the afternoon. Mrs. C. Williams presided over the lemonade booth, assisted by Mrs. Kate Tannant Woods, Miss French and Miss Eliza Peiper. The ice cream booth was in charge of Mrs. W. H. Smith, who was assisted by Misses Ira O. Smith, E. G. Howard, Pratt, Misses Zella Fay, Helen North, Wyman, Currey, Isabel Goden and Myra Lindley. Mrs. C. J. Mackay had in charge of the tea table, assisted by Mrs. Pekell, Miss Larrimore, Miss Stoneman and Miss Pond. The following named committee received the guests: Meses. C. M. Severance, W. W. Murphy, O. J. Muchmore, William Currier, Arthur Hawes, J. R. Newberry, E. G. Howard, W. H. Smith, Bohan, Partridge Wood, C. C. Williams, Milton Lindley, Kate Tannant Woods, E. E. Bennett, P. L. Larrimore, Josephine Williams, Deanna Leavelle, May Smith, Myra Hershey, Lulu Mitchell, Florence Lawson, Bertha Andrews, May Ledyard.

Mrs. C. A. Flory of No. 2034 Sacramento street gave a children's party Friday afternoon in celebration of the sixth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Zillah. The party was an elaborate luncheon, followed by elaborate games. Each guest received souvenirs of the occasion. Those present were Bertie Brose, Zillah Sybert, Mabel Holsey, Estelle Andrews, Edith Chick, Mattie Chick, Anna Mezey, Jessie Mezey, Sarah Craig, Jennie Craig, Johnny Craig, Gerlie Hackett, Gus Hackett, Arthur Flory, Leonard Flory, Daisy Stratton, Clifford Stratton. The Association of Collegiate Alumni was entertained by Miss Stoddard at Santa Monica Saturday afternoon and evening. After spending an hour or two at the beach and plunge the party went to Miss Stoddard's home on Ocean avenue, where supper was served to the thirty-three guests. A short business meeting was held and the rest of the evening was pleasantly passed in impromptu charades and conversation.

[The Assassination of Luna.] (Ramón Reyes Lala in Collier's Weekly.) In view of the reported death of Gen. Antonio Luna, at the hands of Gen. Aguinaldo's guard, it may be of interest to give some details concerning this noted individual and his family, of which, so far, no reliable particulars have yet been presented to the American public. I am fortunately in a position to do this, in view of the intimate relations that have existed between my family and that of the Lunas. The father of Gen. Luna, Don Joaquin Luna, was the next-door neighbor of my father in Manila, and has long been his personal friend. His mother was also in intimate relations with my mother before the latter's death. I remember that she was exceedingly fond of the grand old Pangasinan card game which is a favorite of the Filipinos, and the women in particular.

Some years ago three thieves were taken in an attempt to enter and rob Don Joaquin's house, and later were garrotted, by order of the authorities, in front of the house, and nearly in front of that of my father. This was in pursuance of a legal rule in the Philippines, that criminals condemned to death should be punished as nearly as possible in the locality of their crime.

Don Joaquin Luna is a retired merchant of Manila, a mestizo, or half-breed, by birth, a man of intelligence, although of no special distinction himself, but with the honor of having married his children some of the most brilliant persons in Manila, and the Philippines. In support of this statement it may be said that three of his sons have had remarkable careers in as many different fields of human effort: One of these studied medicine and has won the reputation of being a surgeon of very unusual skill and ability, some of his operations in abdominal surgery being equal in daring and success to those of the famous surgeons of Europe and America.

A second son achieved his reputation in music, being a pupil of Sarasate, the well-known Spanish master of the violin.

A third son is an artist of high distinction, so much so, indeed, as to have won the gold medal for the most excellent painting at the World's Fair of the Madrid Academy of Arts, during the reign of the late King. The picture which brought him this notable honor was named "Eduardo." Some family trouble so aroused his violent nature that he shot and killed his wife and mother-in-law. He was, as I have said, sentenced to death for the crime. The result of this dreadful business was remarkable. A large number of the artists of Spain and France, and many prominent patrons of art, joined in a petition to King Alfonso for his pardon, in view of the great loss to art his execution would be. Doubtless they were also able to offer extenuating circumstances in mitigation of the crime. However that may be, at all events this appeal was successful, and King Alfonso granted a full pardon to the condemned.

There is still another son of Don Joaquin, who attained to eminence as a chemist. He became, and is now, a druggist of note in Manila.

Two of this brilliant family took part in the Philippine insurrection against Spain, and have been prominent in the recent war with Spain in the United States. These are Antonio Luna, the general, who is said to have just met his death by assassination, and the painter, who left Spain as an outlaw of the insurrection, took an active part in it. The latter was the Luna who came to Washington after Aguinaldo's arrival here, probably sent by his brother to act against the exiles. Aguinaldo, whose purpose, I believe, was a peaceful one. Soon after reaching there war broke out in Luzon, and he and his staff, took a hasty departure for Canada. Luna is now a member of the Philippine Junta at London, a body whose hostility to the American cause is well known.

I may say something here in reference to the underlying cause of these intrigues, and the final termination in Gen. Luna's death.

In fact, the Philippine cause has the misfortune of being divided between three hostile elements. Aguinaldo, though by title the chief of the Philippine army, is really in command only of a section of this force, two other sections being under the control of Gen. Luna and Gen. Plutarco Elido. Each of these three men are all enemies of each other, and as will be remembered, Gen. Luna recently went so far as to detain two envoys sent by Aguinaldo to the American authorities at Manila, ostensibly because they had dared to set out without his consent, but really to prevent them from treating for peace.

Emilio Aguinaldo is believed by the more radical Philippine leaders to be secretly a friend of the Americans, and as anxious to make about peace as soon as it can be done with safety to himself and without loss of his influence over the natives. In this purpose Gen. Luna has been a persistent and bitter antagonist, and the hostile feeling between them is undoubtedly the instigating cause of the assassination just reported. The cause of the feud, in this, however, that Aguinaldo is personally responsible for this murder, since, so far as now appears, it may have been a result of hostile relations between the immediate followers of the two leaders.

Country Boy Knew Human Nature. [Chicago Post.] In Dearborn street is a haberdashery store that was answered to a less formidable name—who counts a genius among his employees. This "favored of fortune" is a youth who once lived in a store in the country; and his present proprietor wonders if there are any more like him running at large in the provinces.

There had been a stock of cheap collars and cuffs on the shelves for years. Once in a while, usually just before involving these articles in a bargain sale, down, carefully studied, tied with new baby ribbon, arranged in orderly fashion in the windows, and marked "Best for the cuffs." For years, but patrons would buy none of them. Occasionally a man would come along and toss them over, attracted by the price; but that was all. The country youth waited till the first hard rain. Then he took an armful of the goods and dipped them carefully in a pail of water so that half of each article was moistened. Then he dried them in the sun at the back door, and next morning heaped them in the window, with this marking:

Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 31 deg. and 33 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 94 per cent; 5 p.m., 76 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., southwest, velocity 3 miles; 5 p.m., west, velocity 10 miles. Maximum temperature, 73 deg.; minimum temperature, 69 deg. Barometer reduced to sea level.

Cloudy weather prevails on the California coast. It is clear on the North Pacific Slope. Rain has fallen in Arizona and in Western Texas. The temperature changes have been slight west of the Missouri River.

Forecast.—Local forecast for Los Angeles and vicinity: Cloudy tonight with fog in low portions and toward the coast, becoming clear by Wednesday noon; not much change in temperature; west to southwest winds.

San Francisco.—Maximum temperature, 66 deg.; minimum, 50 deg.; mean, 53 deg. The pressure has risen slowly off the coast of California. Elsewhere west of the Rocky Mountains it has remained nearly stationary. Thunderstorms are reported from the Southern Idaho. The temperature has fallen along the central coast of California. In the great valleys of California the temperatures are about normal. The following maximum wind velocities are reported: San Francisco, forty miles per hour, from the west, and Pocono, forty-four miles, from the west. Over the northern half of the Pacific Coast warm, fair weather prevails.

Forecast made at San Francisco for thirty hours, ending at midnight, July 12:

Southern California: Fair Wednesday; fresh westerly winds.

Arizona: Cloudy Wednesday, with showers in the mountains.

Weekly Forecast.—The warm, clear weather which prevailed at the close of last report, continued, except in some of the immediate coast sections, where there were occasional night fogs and cool mornings. The warm weather ripened fruit rapidly, but it had, generally, an injurious effect on beans and beets, and in some places, on corn not watered. Barley threshing is in operation, and in some cases shows a better result than expected. The apricot harvest continues. Dryers are running to their full capacity, and a great deal of fruit is going to canneries. In some of the interior sections the apricot crop is gathered and the warm weather caused fruit to drop to some extent, but it will not affect the large crop expected. Irrigated crops and orchards are in good condition. Unirrigated lands are showing the effects of lack of water. In some sections the water supply is diminishing.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

An eastern clergyman has instituted a novel method of sharing his vacation with his congregation. He does not leave town, but, instead, cuts his morning sermon to thirty minutes, and his evening discourse to twenty minutes. He is becoming very popular. This great religious duty, intent upon the good of congregations and pastors in and around Los Angeles, believes that it would be a good thing if local churches and preachers — ? — ? — ?

Our kind-hearted visitors will bear the 84 deg. Fahr. of Los Angeles with equanimity when they read that Sacramento has 98 deg., and Fresno 102. It will sweeten the health-laden breezes to them also, to know that this weather rapidly ripens the apricots and crowds them into the canneries, thereby increasing the pay of the workers. If Old Sol brings a modicum of discomfort to our visitors at mid-day, he also brings dollars of comfort and help to those who must handle the fruit crop.

The railroad horror of yesterday, whereby two were killed and many wounded, will bring life-long sorrow to many homes in the far East, and render the present auspicious and helpful gathering of the nation's teachers the point of departure for joy for them this side of eternity. It may soften the dread blow to the bereaved ones to know that stranger hearts feel for them here on the Pacific Slope, and that what is their special burden of grief is mutually shared by the people of Southern California.

The gold brick and the murderous gun that was not loaded, go down the broad road of joy-destruction, hand in hand, and, apparently, always will. This time it is the gun, which shot a man in San Diego. If, for purposes of wholesome warning, such a man is dubbed an idiot, he waxes wroth and threatens dire things, yet on the next opportunity he will buy a gold brick actually or metaphorically, or ride with a loaded gun, and thus perpetuate human wonder at divine omniscience.

Forty years ago grammar-school children used to sing "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again," and the people of Redlands are acting on that most excellent principle. Defeated again and again in their search for subterranean water at the loss of months of labor and thousands of dollars, they have gone bravely on, till at last they have found water at 118 feet that wells up to within twenty-five feet of the surface. All the world admires real progressive grit, and this is a noticeable instance. This news is cheerfully passed to Redlands.

MARK TWAIN'S LATEST.

Speech of America's Humorist at the English Authors' Club.

[New York Journal:] Not since the memorable tour of the world by Gen. Grant has any American citizen had such a triumphant welcome abroad as Mark Twain (Samuel L. Clemens). America's greatest living humorist, who has been greeted in France, Switzerland, Germany and England almost like a crowned head. Public and private receptions and banquets have been given him wherever he has gone.

While in Vienna a few weeks ago the Emperor Francis Joseph sent for him and honored him with a private interview. Mr. Clemens laboriously wrote out a solemn speech in German and carefully committed it to memory. But he became so embarrassed upon entering the study of the Emperor that he entirely forgot it. His Majesty waited a few moments for his visitor to speak, and then he highly amused when Mr. Clemens broke into good Connecticut English and told the Emperor the story of his forgotten speech.

Two weeks after the English Authors' Club in London welcomed Mark Twain's arrival in England by a banquet. Sir Walter Besant, in proposing the health of Mark Twain, said: "I have the honor to reply to the toast Mr. Clemens said: 'It does not embarrass me to hear my books praised so much. It only pleases and delights me.'"

"It is such a satisfaction to me to hear Sir Walter Besant, who is much more capable than I to judge of my work, deliver a judgment which is such a contentment to my spirit. [Laughter.]

"Well, I have thought well of the books myself, but I think more of them now. [Laughter and cheers.]

"It charms me also to hear Sir Spencer Walpole deliver a similar judgment, and I shall treasure his remarks also. I shall discount his praises in any possible way. When I report them to my family they shall lose nothing. [Laughter.]

"There are, however, certain heresies which come down to us which our writings at the present day may be traced to. I, for instance, read the Walpole letter and said to myself, 'I absorbed them, gathered in their grace, wit and humor and put them away to be used by and by. One does that so unconsciously with things one really likes.'"

"I am reminded now of what use those letters have been to me. 'They must not be claimed in America for what was really written in another form long ago. They must only claim that I only trimmed this, that and the other and so changed their appearance so as to make them seem original. You now see what modesty I have in stock. But it has taken long practice to get it there. [Laughter.]

"But I must not stand here talking. I merely meant to get up and give my thanks for the pleasant things that preceding speakers have said of me. 'I wish also to extend my thanks to the Author's Club for constituting me a member, at a reasonable price per year, and for giving me the benefit of your legal advice.'"

"I believe you keep a lawyer. I have always kept a lawyer, too [laughter.] though I have never made any use of him."

"It is of service to an author to have a lawyer. There is something so disagreeable in having a personal contact with a lawyer, that I have never made any use of him."

"So it is better to work through a lawyer—and lose your case. I understand that the publishers have been meeting together also, like us, to decide what for, but possibly they are devising new and mysterious ways for remunerating authors. [Oh, oh! and laughter.]

"I only wish now to thank you for electing me a member of this club—I believe I have paid my dues—and to thank you again for the pleasant things you have said of me."

"Last February, when Rudyard Kipling was ill in America, the sympathy which was poured out to him was genuine and sincere [Cheers.] and I believe that which cost Kipling so much will bring England and America closer together. [Renewed cheers.]

"I have been proud and pleased to see this growing affection and respect between the two countries. I hope it will continue to grow, and please God, I will continue to grow. [Cheers.]

"I trust we authors will leave to posterity, if we have nothing else to leave, a friendship between England and America that will count for much. [Cheers.]

"I will now confess that I have been engaged for the past eight days in compiling a pun. [Laughter.]

"I have brought it here to lay at your feet. I do not ask your indulgence in presenting it, but for your applause. [Uproarious laughter.]

"Here it is:

"'Since England and America have been joined together in Kipling, may they not be severed in Twain.'"

[Laughter and Cheers.]

Langworthy is a Captain.
Samuel R. Langworthy received the following telegram from the War Department yesterday, signed by Asst. Adjt.-Gen. Carter:

"You have been appointed captain of the Thirty-fifth Infantry, volunteers. Please wire your acceptance to this office."

Capt. Langworthy began his military career in 1890, enlisting in the National Guard of California, and he has been a commissioned officer since that time. He came to Los Angeles three years ago, and took charge of Co. C, Seventh Regiment. He found the regiment in a very demoralized condition. When organized he was commissioned captain of Co. C, United States Volunteers.

Pursuant to the order of the Board of Police Commissioners, Mayor Eaton yesterday reprimanded Chief of Police Glass for insubordination. The Mayor's "rebuke" was of a much milder nature than the commissioner against whom the insubordination had been committed had been led to believe would be administered. It contained no reference to "insubordination."

The special election at which a vote will be taken on the proposition to issue bonds for the acquisition of a city waterworks system will be held on August 23. The final ordinance calling that election will be adopted at the next meeting of the Council.

A saloon-keeper appealed to the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday for protection from persons in that business, who, he said, were violating the law with impunity. He asserted that between sixty and one hundred saloon-keepers pay little attention to the law against selling liquor on Sunday. He will give the names of the violators to the Mayor for such action as that official may see fit to take.

Patrolman Wilson was ordered suspended five days by the Police Commission yesterday for having absented himself from the city without leave. He pleaded illness as an excuse for leaving his beat, and then went to the beach and was caught returning.

The annual report of City Engineer Dockweiler, which should have been filed November 30, 1898, was filed in the City Clerk's office yesterday, without any explanation as to the cause of the delay.

Arthur G. Van Gorder was brought into the Township Court on attachment proceedings for contempt of court and upon the further refusal to show property, was fined $100 for contempt, and delivered into the custody of the Sheriff. Prior to this Justice James and Constable Yonkin had served a writ of habeas corpus to deliver Van Gorder before Judge Trask, and it is now alleged, the Justice disregarded the writ and went on with his attachment. Judge Trask denied the habeas corpus petition at the hearing yesterday afternoon, and Van Gorder was kept out of jail by issuing another writ upon the Sheriff.

Daniel T. Ames, the most eminent handwriting expert in the world will testify in the Bird case today.

MILDLY REPRIMAND.

MAYOR EATON'S REBUKE READ TO CHIEF OF POLICE GLASS.

Saloon Man Appeals For Enforcement of the Liquor Laws—Policeman Wilson Lightly Punished. Dockweiler's Belated Report.

Chief of Police Glass was publicly, and almost apologetically reprimanded yesterday by Mayor Eaton for insubordination in losing his temper and "talking back" at Commissioner Scarborough and a delegation of citizens at a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners two weeks ago. The "reprimand" has been placed of record in the Police Commission, and the incident which came so near costing the Chief a suspension from pay and duty may be said to be closed, so far as any particular action on it by the commission is concerned. It cannot be concealed, however, that the insubordination and the subsequent events have caused a division in the board which, it so happens, is now on political lines. The delivery of the reprimand did not please Mr. Scarborough, for whose sake it was delivered, and Mr. Parker, who supported him in the matter, is no more pleased. For some reason the Chief himself did not appear to be pleased, and immediately after the delivery of the Mayor's carefully-worded communication to him he hurried to City Hall in a hurry, that to one of the members of the commission appeared to be another display of temper.

The delivery of the reprimand was left until all the other business of the commission had been completed. When the secretary announced that there was nothing more on the board, Mayor Eaton said: "Gentlemen, I have a very unpleasant duty to perform. I have been directed to administer a reprimand to the Chief, and as it is to be spread upon the minutes I have induced it to writing. The clerk will read it."

Secretary Trowbridge then read the following, the author of which was not stated:

"John M. Glass, Chief of Police, Los Angeles.

"I am directed by the Board of Police Commissioners of this city to administer to you a rebuke for the display of temper by you toward Commissioner Scarborough and citizens of the University district, at a meeting of said board, held June 27, 1898.

"It is the unanimous opinion of this board that you are an honest man and a good Chief of Police, and this reprimand is not intended in any way to reflect upon your character as a man nor to lessen your authority in the position you hold. But this board has always maintained a courteous bearing toward all persons present at its sessions, and we insist that this policy shall be observed by yourself as well as by the members of the board. I trust that there will be no occasion for further criticism in the future.

Just as Secretary Trowbridge began reading the foregoing, Mayor Eaton turned to the Chief and said: "Chief, this is intended for you. Will you please stand."

"Oh, you want me to stand up, do you?" asked the Chief, rather quickly, and then he arose to his feet. Ten seconds after the reading had been finished the Mayor declared the meeting adjourned, and at the announcement and without a word, the Chief started for the door. He grabbed his hat from a gas fixture on the wall and shot out of the door, giving it a jerk behind him.

"It looks like the Chief is mad again," quoth Commissioner Parker. "I don't know why," that closed the incident.

SALOONS BREAK THE LAW.

The unusual spectacle of a saloon-keeper appealing to the Board of Police Commissioners to have the liquor laws enforced and his informing that body that nearly half the saloon-keepers in the city habitually violated the ordinance against Sunday sales of liquor, was presented at yesterday's meeting. The matter came as a surprise, and although no official action was taken, the commissioners did not rebuff the disclosure made by the saloon man. Andrew Fuhrberg, proprietor of a saloon at No. 317 1/2 South Main street, appeared at the commission meeting early and waited patiently until the routine business had been disposed of. He then demanded a hearing, and being granted one, declared that he was compelled to apply to the commission for a better enforcement of the saloon laws in his own protection. He explained that he conducted a restaurant in connection with his saloon, and up to yesterday held a restaurant liquor license. He said he obeyed the law and refused to sell beer by the glass on Sunday, the result being that his trade had been reduced to one-fourth of what it was formerly. His customers being unable to secure liquor at his place of business on Sunday, and after 1 a. m. he was forced to other places where they could get beer or whatever else they wanted.

"I tell you, gentlemen, this law is not a law," he said, "it is a nuisance. I don't know why it is so, but my business is being ruined by the manner in which others are allowed to violate the law whenever they want to. I know that there are many saloons in which you can get a drink at any time, Sunday or other days. There are from fifty to one hundred of them where you can get whisky, beer or anything else with or without meals. It is not fair to me. I pay my license, and I think I am entitled to protection from this board, and why should I pay a license. If this thing keeps up I will either have to do as the rest do, violate the law, or quit business."

Commissioner Goss asked whether the saloon men could furnish the board the names of the saloon-keepers who violate the law in the manner which he complained of. Fuhrberg replied that he could do so, but did not desire to take such action.

"How then can you expect us to help you," asked the commissioner. "How are we to know who these people are unless you tell us?"

"That is what I consider your police force is for," replied the saloon man, "and if you are not going to enforce the law what do you do with them? It is not for me to play policeman and do police duty when these violators are right under their eyes. You can see it for yourself any Sunday. Go up on First street and you will see men going into saloons whenever they wish. My drink is just as good as theirs. If any customers cannot get beer at my place they will go some place where they can get it and I lose the business because I live up to the law. I tell you, it is a nuisance."

Commissioner Scarborough asserted that the protest was well founded. "I have no doubt that what he says is true," he said, "and I am sure that he makes such statements if they were false. Where there is so much smoke there must be some fire. I think this should be taken care of by the police. He is certainly doing all that could be expected of him. This is a matter that needs investigation."

"Well, let the instruct the Police Department to look up the whole town and see about this," said the Mayor. "Let me understand you, what is your complaint?" he asked Fuhrberg.

"I tell you," replied the saloon man, "that the law is being violated. I know of sixty or more places where this license is only a sham and where you can get whisky without a meal if you have the price. I ask protection from such violations of the law."

Commissioner Goss wanted some of the names of places where the violations occur, and asked Fuhrberg if he would be willing to give to the Mayor privately the names desired. This Fuhrberg said he would do at any time. It was finally decided that he should tell Mayor Eaton who had been violating the law and that the Mayor should take such action as he deemed proper.

SUSPENDED FIVE DAYS.

Patrolman A. M. Wilson was suspended from duty without pay for five days for having absented himself from the city without leave. The matter was reported to the Chief by Sgt. Jeffries. Several days ago Wilson telephoned to the Police Station that he was sick and was going home. A note to this effect was given the sergeant by Clerk Gridley and Sgt. Jeffries sent Police Surgeon Hagan to Wilson's house to attend him. When Dr. Hagan arrived there he was informed that Wilson had gone to the beach. Before the doctor could return Sgt. Jeffries happened to meet Wilson getting out of a car just as he was returning from the beach, and learning the truth about the matter, he immediately suspended him and ordered him to appear before the commission. Sgt. Jeffries appeared there yesterday morning and stated the case against the officer. Wilson made no defense, but admitted he had done all that had been charged against him. He expressed regret, and in response to questions by members of the board admitted that he had absented himself, but he was not caught the first time. Commissioner Goss moved that the suspension continue until the next meeting, and that in the mean time the commission look into Wilson's record as an officer. Commissioner Scarborough moved as an amendment that Wilson be suspended for five days. The amendment prevailed. In the reports on all the patrolmen, filed some months ago, Wilson was reported to be a good officer, but what kind of business he was in was not stated in the report.

WANTS A NUMBERED STAR.

Private Policeman Foster has been making every effort to secure a numbered star, so that he can secure free transportation by the street cars. He was before the commission a week ago and appeared again yesterday and renewed his application. The Mayor was not present, but Commissioner Scarborough asserted that by doing so the man was receding from his former declared policy in such matters, having previously stated that only policemen in the pay of the city should be provided with numbered stars. He stated that that was the reason that the new stars had been furnished the men. He declared that once the bars were down any special officer had a right to expect the same treatment as was accorded to Foster. Commissioner Goss moved that the Mayor request the street-railway companies to issue a pass book to Foster and the motion carried. After the meeting Foster objected to taking a book. He said it would put him under obligations to the railway companies. He, together with the Mayor and Dana Rush, tried to convince Commissioner Parker that his position was not proper, and that the star should be issued. The City Attorney was called in, and while he was in the room the Mayor had the authority to issue the star he asserted that it would not be following the spirit or intent of the railway companies' franchises. It was simply a question of policy which the board must settle for itself. The Mayor asserted that he would be able to secure Foster a star at the next meeting.

Protest Against Curbing.

A numerously-signed protest was filed in the office of the City Clerk yesterday afternoon by the owners of property on Sixth street between Main and San Pedro streets against the proposed curbing of that portion of that street. The reason assigned is that there is a wooden curb there which in its present condition answers all the requirements, and therefore the expense of a cement curb would be a needless expenditure of money. The protest is signed by owners of 2109 feet of property frontage.

WAITED SEVEN MONTHS.

Dockweiler's Belated Annual Report Filed Yesterday.

The annual report of the City Engineer's department for the business year ended November 30, 1898, was filed in the office of the City Clerk yesterday afternoon, and will go to the Council next Monday. This report should have been made to the Council last December, but the other departments of the city reported their business for the year, but ex-City Engineer Dockweiler had other business to attend to, perhaps, and may not have had time to prepare the report. The data on which it was based was possession on the last day of last November, but for some reason he failed to file the report until yesterday. The fault does not lie with the present City Engineer, who had no means of knowing what his predecessor should be, because the report was due before City Engineer Olmsted took office.

The members of the Board of Public Works, to whom the ordinance was referred, intended to regulate the use of bicycles in this city, despite all wheelmen who have any opinions to offer with respect to the ordinance to appear at the regular meeting on Friday, when, for the purpose of settling them, the board will continue its session until after noon. It is desired that as full an expression be had as possible in order that there be no objections to the ordinance after it is adopted. It is probable that certain minor changes will be made in the measure by the board, and the suggestion of persons who have spoken privately to them. The invitation to appear before the board is extended to all owners of bicycles. One of the Councilmen said yesterday that the ordinance is adopted, the Council will insist that the police department enforce it strictly, and not spasmodically as they do other laws.

VAN GORDER MUDDLE.

MORE KINKS IN THAT ALREADY COMPLICATED CASE.

The Professor Again Fined for Contempt—He Alleged That Justice James Disregarded a Writ of Habeas Corpus—Prospect of Cell Finally Averted.

There was a tide in the affairs of Arthur G. Van Gorder yesterday which he took at its flood, and for a while he was quite uncertain as to where it might land him. For a few minutes it seemed as if the County Jail might be his strand. He is a member of the N.E.A. Reception Committee, and the prospect of a night in a cell was not pleasant.

Van Gorder is a young High School professor who some years ago went into the oil business on the side. In this venture he had a partner, to whom, after a few months, he disposed of his interests in the business. After he had sold out, as he claims, an action was brought in the Township Court against the firm to collect for services rendered and Van Gorder was made a party to the suit. Judgment was rendered against him, and after some three months, upon application, it was set aside. This action was all had under the preceding Justice. When Justice James came in the question as to status arose, and he proceeded upon the original entry, which Van Gorder considers set aside. Justice James holds that the original judgment could not be set aside, because no motion for so doing was made within the time limit of ten days prescribed by law.

He then summoned Van Gorder to show why property should be sold to satisfy the judgment, but Van Gorder refused to answer the questions put to him by Justice James, and within a very brief time the court ordered that he be held in default of judgment for $270. These fines were suspended, however, and thereafter he was twice cited to appear on supplemental proceedings, but saw fit to disregard both citations.

An attachment was then issued by Justice James returnable Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The papers were not served immediately, however, owing to the misunderstanding that Van Gorder and his attorney would be in court yesterday. It was found that such information was a mistake, Justice James ordered Van Gorder brought before him yesterday forenoon, and he was promptly served by Constable Yonkin and Van Gorder was in the courtroom a few minutes prior to 11:30.

Van Gorder had scarcely arrived, however, when Deputy Sheriff Davis served Justice James and Constable Yonkin with habeas corpus papers demanding Van Gorder's appearance in court at 11:30. Deputy Sheriff Davis handed the writ to Constable Yonkin, who at once called the attention of Justice James to it. But the latter took but slight notice of the nature of the paper and proceeded immediately with the hearing in his own court.

Van Gorder was requested to take the stand, but asked that proceedings be stayed until the arrival of his attorney. Will D. Gould, Esq., was then called in and he finally took the stand. Justice James informed him that he was about to take testimony from him as to his property, etc., when Van Gorder refused to answer, and Justice James fined him $100 for contempt and committed him into the custody of the Sheriff until such time as he would consent to answer the questions asked him by the court.

Deputy Sheriff Davis was then in a quandary. He had taken a writ of habeas corpus up to the Constable's office that called for the latter to take Van Gorder instantly before Judge Trask, and, lo and behold, it was him who had Van Gorder set aside on his hands, with orders to take him to the Sheriff.

With things in this muddle they all fled into Judge Trask's court. Mr. Gould explained the situation, and asked that the justice and the Constable make a return on what they had done, and that Judge Trask set aside the commitment as ordered by Justice James. It was held by Mr. Gould that the justice at least had acted in open defiance of the Superior Court in disobeying the writ of habeas corpus, and should be made to answer for contempt. At this point Jud R. Rush, Esq., was called in to look after the interests of Constable Yonkin.

Without passing upon Justice James' course in apparently disregarding the writ, it seemed to Judge Trask that inasmuch as the commitment had been regularly issued and was in correct form, he could not set it aside, and that Van Gorder would have to remain in the Sheriff's custody as remanded by the Township Court. Justice James and Constable Yonkin were ordered to make their returns by 2:30 p. m., and the court adjourned until that time.

Mr. Gould and Van Gorder then, with somewhat sorrowful tread left the latter was on his way to the County Jail, went down to Sheriff Hamlin's office. The Sheriff was told the situation, but the only thing for him to do, he thought, was to obey the order of the Township Court, as designated by the commitment. Although requested to allow Van Gorder to go on his own recognizance, he stated that it was not within his discretion to do so. He requested, and that Van Gorder might sit in his private office until the court he could not disregard the commitment.

Van Gorder and Deputy Sheriff Davis then went to lunch. When court reconvened in the afternoon the Constable had filed his return, but Justice James had failed to do so. He thought, as was afterwards learned, that the writ could be made because there had been no service of the writ upon him and that at the time the writ had been served upon Constable Yonkin, Van Gorder was in the restraint of neither, but had just previously been committed to the custody of the Sheriff.

Justice James was quickly summoned before Judge Trask, and asked for an explanation. He stated that Constable Yonkin had called his attention to the second citation of the writ, but he suspected that a writ had been issued to stay the attachment, did not take time to ascertain that it was a writ, and he supposed that it was a paper in habeas corpus proceedings addressed to himself and the Constable, and made haste to proceed with the hearing before the court. He further stated that there was only one copy of the writ served which was put upon the Constable, and that he had only a four-second glimpse over his shoulder of the one handed to the Constable Yonkin.

The deputy sheriff had previously filed an affidavit of personal service upon both the Constable and the Justice, and was advised by Attorney McKimble that the writ was not valid. McKimble was then in the Sheriff's office, that the service as described even by Justice James was legal.

After the afternoon was then spent in considering whether or not Justice James was in contempt for failing to appear at 2:30 as ordered. It was finally decided that he was not, and the rest of the afternoon was taken up in a hearing of the habeas corpus petition, which was finally decided in favor of Van Gorder. The writ was not within the custody of the Township Court when the writ was served.

Another writ was then prepared and served with great haste upon the Sheriff. Van Gorder was already in court, and after depositing a $500 bond, he was ordered to appear Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Judge Trask has not as yet taken up the alleged contempt of Justice James proceeding with the attachment after he had been released. This phase of the complication is to be looked into later.

EAGER TO BE GUILTY.

An Old Soldier Elated With a Penitentiary Prospect.

George Moore, an old soldier who hails from Kentucky, was arraigned in Department One yesterday morning on a charge of burglary. Moore said he came up from the Soldiers' Home to spend the Fourth and took a room at No. 319 West Fifth street. Under the influence of liquor he embraced an elegant opportunity to "touch" a till and relieve it of $150. Moore is promptly pleaded guilty to burglary in the second degree, and although it was made very plain to him that it might be to his decided advantage to demand a jury trial, he persisted that it was just as well for him to go to the penitentiary and that he understood perfectly well what he was doing.

After explaining the situation to him at great length, Judge Campbell pronounced sentence, "Twelve months at San Quentin, Mr. Moore," said the court.

"Thank you, sir," gratefully replied the old man, who said he was without money and without friends, and apparently resigned in the prospect of being out of the way for a few months.

Mrs. Wilson Wants a Divorce from Lawyer Wilson.

Christopher N. Wilson, a lawyer of this city who is quite widely known as "Chinese" Wilson on account of numerous clients among Chinamen, was defendant in a divorce suit on file before Judge Shaw yesterday. His wife, Mrs. Frances E. Wilson, spent a large part of the day reciting her story of his alleged cruelty and neglect.

Mrs. Wilson said that owing to Wilson's alleged stinginess and meanness she has been compelled to work on a ranch like a day laborer far beyond her strength. She said she had endured it, she said, too proud to complain.

She testified to milking a number of cows, and that she was to stand in pools and puddles under her feet in the barnyard and often ran over the tops of her shoes. Shortly after she was married, she said, Wilson took her out of the city to live in a hut formerly occupied as a bunkhouse by Chinese ranch laborers.

On cross-examination an attempt was made to show that Mrs. Wilson was raised on a farm and was used to work of the kind. She says she is a relative of Rev. Burt Bates Howard. The case will be resumed before Judge Shaw this morning at 10 o'clock.

HANDWRITING EXPERT.

The Noted D. T. Ames to Testify at the Bird Trial.

Daniel T. Ames, handwriting expert, is to testify in the trial of R. A. Bird for alleged forgery. The case has been on trial in the Superior Court for over two years past, and Mr. Ames has been waiting around the Courthouse since last Friday.

The District Attorney had been planning him as a great surprise with which to paralyze the defense, and only a few people have been aware of the fact of the whereabouts of the old gentleman, who sat as a spectator in the rear of the courtroom. Late yesterday, the fact of his presence was leaked out, and he is now the central figure of attention, with his little black leather case of papers and a grip that has done service through many a hard-fought case.

The county pays Ames $50 per day and all expenses to be in attendance at the Bird trial. He will probably be upon the stand some time this forenoon.

Ames' record as an expert has been published far and wide, until his name has become a household word. He is a man of great energy and has been a member of the National Association of Experts. His most notable case, perhaps, and the one of most timely interest, was his expert testimony in the case of the late Captain Dreyfus, who was convicted and disgraced. Ames' opinion was that the letter was a forgery.

People Who Have Been Visited by Light-fingered Gentry.

Mrs. Mary Leinan of No. 1311 Girard street reported to the police yesterday that a set of single buggy harness, nickel trimmed, had been stolen from her barn.

Some time between 7:30 and 8:30 o'clock Monday night thieves entered U. Allen's pawn shop on Main street, between Third and Fourth, and stole a miscellaneous lot of jewelry and cutlery. The matter was reported to the police.

A complaint was received from J. D. Hooker stating that fifty feet of red garden hose had been stolen from his place.

Charles Fordyce, a recent arrival from Nebraska, who is staying at the residence of D. J. Hayes at No. 522 W. street, reported the loss of his gold watch, which was stolen from him on the train before arriving in this city.

Chance Offered Volunteers.

The War Department has issued orders to Lieut. Hunt, in charge of the Los Angeles recruiting station, directing him to begin recruiting volunteers for the new regiments. The requirements for admission into the ranks will be less severe than was formerly imposed on those entering the regular army, or on previous volunteers. Physical qualifications will probably be more rigid than heretofore, less stress being laid on educational standing. The enlistment blanks have not arrived and will not be issued until they do. This order practically dismisses all possibility of the ill-fated Seventh Regiment entering the service, as recruits cannot be accepted in organizations.
